Firemen Drag River Five Hours; 'Victim' At Brother's Home

A missing Star Junction woman was found alive at the home of her brother last night after more than 100 volunteer firemen dragged the Youghiogheny River for five hours.

Fire Chief Frank Frescura of Perryopolis called off the river search when informed that the woman — Mrs George Lint, about 23 — has been located alive and unharmed

Frescura said dragging operations started yesterday at 4 p m. when circumstances indicated that Mrs. Lint had taken her life Saturday night by leaping off the Layton bridge.

According to Frescura, Mrs Lint had left a note for her husband "telling him to take care of the children, that she was going to kill herself"

Scarf Is Found

A search of the bridge revealed that a scarf worn by Mrs Lint Saturday had been tied to the framework of the bridge.

Adding credence to the suicide theory was a report from a Layton resident, Robert Gardner, that he had seen a woman walking in the vicinity of the bridge about 8 p m Saturday

Frescura ordered the search yesterday and more than five dragging boats were brought to the scene The Perryopolis company was assisted by firemen from Belle Vernon, North Belle Vernon and Smithton

The men were preparing to call off operations because of darkness last night when word arrived that Mrs. Lint was safe at the home of her brother in Layton, Frescura said.

Firemen said they had no idea where the woman had spent Saturday night It was reported that she suffered a nervous breakdown recently.

The Lints have five children.

Charleroi Area Man Kills Self In Accident

Bruce A Lucas, 23, Charleroi R D 2, died early today in Charleroi-Monessen Hospital about three hours after he apparently shot himself accidentally with a 22 caliber single shot rifle

State Police said the shooting took place at the Lucas home about two miles west of Speers Borough in Fallowfield Twp.

The victim's 22-year-old wife, Shirley Ann, told police she found her husband lying on the ground near their home at 9 30 o'clock last night He was rushed immediately to the hospital where he died at 12 44 a m today.

Mrs. Lucas said her husband left the house, telling her he was going to check their car. Moments later a shot rang out.

Police said Lucas was found unconscious between the house and garage with a bullet wound in his head

The slug entered the right temple, veered around the front of the youth's head and then emerged from the left side

Police said the rifle had an extremely sensitive firing mechanism and the discharge was believed to be the result of a sudden bump.

According to Mrs. Lucas, the victim had used the rifle earlier in the day for target practice. She said she was unaware that he had taken the weapon with him to check the car

Lucas, a student at Waynesburg College, is survived by his wife and an infant child, police said

Vernon Truckers Face Charges in Traffic Squabble

Two Belle Vernon truck drivers were free under $1,000 bond today, awaiting court action for their alleged part in a traffic squabble last Thursday in Washington Pa

According to Washington police, the affair started when Fuller Rodeheaver, 43, of 105 Arch St. Belle Vernon refused to pull up and get out of his truck after being hailed for an improper turn on North Franklin St at West Beau St

Right behind Rodeheaver in a truck belonging to the same company was Ray Shohan, 28, also of 105 Arch St, Belle Vernon.

Police said Shahan got into the argument and attempted to push the arresting officer Another Washington patrolman and firemen happened to be on the scene and they finally forced the embattled pair to give up the struggle.

Taken before Alderman David Wilson, Rodeheaver was given a hearing for disorderly conduct and resisting arrest, and Shahan for assault and battery and resisting arrest

They were both ordered held for court Each posted $1,000 bail.

Three Women, One of Webster, Accident Victims

Three women, one a Webster pedestrian, were injured in motor crashes occurring in the district over the weekend

Mrs Margaret Roberts, 57, Box 115 Webster, was attempting to cross Route 906 near the Webster traffic light when she was struck by a car driven by Nicholas Kostelac Jr., 27, of 2009 Grand Blvd, Monessen, Saturday about 6 p m

State police said Kostelac was operating on a green light when the women darted into the path of his car.

Mrs. Roberts was taken to Charleroi - Monessen Hospital with head, arm, knee and ankle injuries. Her condition was described as "good" at noon today.

Mrs Helen B Mihealsick 64, and a relative, Mrs Theresa Mihealsick, 33 both of Allenport, were treated at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital Saturday afternoon following an auto accident. the hospital said today Both were released.

Police had no details of the mishap

Clarence Massey, 25, of Monongahela, escaped injury when the car he was driving failed to negotiate a turn, crashed into a bridge railing and overturned. He was alone.

The mishap occurred on Pigeon Bridge on East Main St., Monongahela, shortly after midnight this morning.

Damage was placed at $800.

Crucible Miners Return to Work

WAYNESBURG, Pa (UP)—About 400 men returned to work at the Crucible Steel Co coal mine today, ending a strike which had idled more than 12,000 miners in Fayette, Greene and Washington counties.

A spokesman for Local 4783, United Mine Workers, said the dispute over seniority rights which led to the walkout would be submitted to the company through regular grievance channels

The strike started last month when the company furloughed 83 mines as part of a general production cutback.

Roving bands of pickets from the Crucible mine spread through the three counties, halting operations.

January Date for First U. S. Satellite

WASHINGTON (UP) — Dr John P Hagen, U. S. space-satellite director, said today it may be possible to launch the first full-scale U S. satellite in January — two months ahead of schedule

Hagen said that if the proposed launching of a six-inch test satellite next month is a complete success, the proposed firing of at least two additional spheres will be scrapped in favor of going direct to launching the instrument crammed 24-inch satellite

A Project Vanguard spokesman defined complete success as meaning the three-stage rocket separation mechanism and test satellite all function as hoped He said that includes the expectation that the test satellite will get into orbit around the world.

At present Project Vanguard plans to launch at least three test satellites at about one-month intervals before attempting the bigger ones. However, a spokesman said it would be possible to prepare a Vanguard rocket for launching in about one month if desired.

Declines the Day

Hagen disclosed the possibility of speeding up the main satellite launching following a news conference He was clarifying earlier remarks made during the conference

Hagen declined to name the day next month when the first six-inch test satellite will be fired

We have planning dates, not scheduled dates ' he said "We try to hit the time in a reasonable period, but difficulties in preparation can mean a matter of days or hours"

Hagen said more crews and more money could speed up launching of satellites However, a Navy spokesman said more crews and launching facilities are not now available and "it is probably too late' to build facilities that would affect the present launching schedule.

Chamber Asks Council to Make Traffic Changes

The Monessen Chamber of Commerce has proposed several traffic changes as a result of the current Schoonmaker Ave improvement program which has blocked off the city to motorists entering from the west

The proposals were made Saturday during a meeting of City and Chamber officials.

A spokesman for the Chamber said the city officials "agreed in principle with the proposals and promised to consider them fully." He added that the Chamber suggestions were prompted by "the emergency traffic situation created by the Schoonmaker Ave project"

Neither city nor Chamber officials made the proposals public.

Several Persons Hurt In Monessen Accidents

A series of motor accidents caused slight injuries to several persons in Monessen over the weekend, police records revealed today.

Michael Andricovich, 344 Chestnut St., Monessen, told police he was traveling on Donner Ave. near Fourth St. about 7.15 last night when he was struck from the rear by a machine operated by a 16-year-old Monongahela girl, Stella Dunn.

Andricovich and his wife both sustained back injuries A daughter, Adele, suffered a bruised eye. His son, Kenny, reportedly escaped injury

Sally Dunn, 13, suffered minor bruises and another passenger in the Dunn car, Karen Young, also 13, Monongahela, received a bruised forehead. Dr. Fred Campana treated the injured.

Dean Ondulick, 1272 Second St., Monessen, suffered an injured knee as a result of an accident involving his car and a vehicle driven by Prosper Vitali, Donora, on Third St yesterday Vitali assumed responsibility, police stated.

A car belonging to Albert DeMatteo, Monessen, was parked in a lot near the City Building on Third St early yesterday when it was struck by a car driven by Gordon Cribbs, an unlicensed driver from 1015 Graham St, Belle Vernon.

The impact shoved the DeMatteo machine against a concrete wall

Cribbs, who said he had no insurance, told police he would pay for damages. He is charged with operating a motor vehicle without a license.

Mike Tweardy, 1533 Shrader Ave, Monessen, told police he was traveling near Third St. and Alberts Dr when he was involved in a mishap with a car operated by Herbert Flythe, 1235 Morgan Ave., Monessen, at 11.45 yesterday morning

Flythe assumed the blame, police reported.

Chamber Report Meeting Tomorrow

Police said they recovered two high-powered rifles and a quantity of ammunition allegedly stolen by the boy

The juvenile was released into the custody of his parents pending further investigation State Police said Rostraver Twp Constable Harry Weightman assisted in the case.

AN ARMS CONFLICT — Paul Henri Spaak (left), secretary general of NATO, tries to persuade the French delegation to return to a NATO meeting in Paris. The French walked out after protesting Anglo-American arms shipments to Tunisia

Pineau on Way Here To Talk with Dulles

NEW YORK (UP) — French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau flew to the United States today for urgent talks with John Foster Dulles on a growing rift in Franco-American relations.

Anglo-American arms shipments to Tunisia have enraged France, creating a serious rift in the Atlantic alliance and jeopardizing the Dec. 16 NATO summit conference in Paris to be attended by President Eisenhower.

Pineau will see Dulles in Washington Tuesday afternoon He will prepare for the meeting by talking in New York today with United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and French Ambassador Herve Alphand

Won't Soothe French

Before leaving Paris Pineau admitted that no matter how well his talks with Dulles turn out they will not soothe the anger of the French people over U S and British arms shipments to Tunisia.

In London, British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd was reported anxious to meet with both Dulles and Pineau before the NATO summit conference Dec 16 to help restore the "Grand Alliance"

Feeling ran so high in France that riot squads guarded the U S. and British embassies over the week end Rightwingers had threatened to demonstrate but there were no incidents

All the main Soviet newspapers including Pravda, Izvestia, Trud and Sovietskaya Rossiya, carried dispatches from Paris under such headlines as "Scandal in the Atlantic Family." "Tunisian Thorn in Atlantic Bloc" and "United States trying to push France from Africa."

Weekly Approves Action

In Tunis, the Tunisian French language weekly "L'Action" said Algerian Nationalist circles saw the arms shipments as a sign of Washington "willingness to end the immobilism of its North African policy."

Such statements only goaded the French into increasingly more bitter statements.

But this very unity of anger over the arms shipments may prove somewhat beneficial to France. Political observers expected it to help Premier Felix Gaillard's week-old government win its first vote of confidence Tuesday

Pineau was geared to ask the United States for full support for France's position in North Africa, particularly in Algeria

The French view was that if the United States fully backed France in the forthcoming United Nations debate on Algeria, much of the furor stirred up by the Tunisian arms shipments would be quieted

Route 51 Service Station Damaged

Firemen blamed an overheated coal stove for a blaze which caused between $800 and $1000 in damages at a Route 51 service station near Perryopolis yesterday morning at 10 45 o'clock.

The owner of the service station is Randell Evans, Fayette City.

According to Perryopolis firemen, an overheated flue from a coal stove set fire to the ceiling area of the one-story building.

The Perry Fire Co was assisted at the scene by North Belle Vernon firemen.

Army KP Duty May Be on the Way Out

WASHINGTON (UP) — Army Chief of Staff Gen Maxwell D. Taylor said today that KP duty may be on the way out.

Food-handling and other kitchen demands on the Army's manpower are being reduced sharply through use of radiation, dehydration and other mechanical processes, he said.

Today's Army, Taylor said, is being geared to travel light and fast, able to disperse and shift over long distances. He made the remarks in an address prepared for the annual convention of the National Defense Transport Association.

$100,000 Blaze Hits Apartment House in Irwin

IRWIN, Pa. (UP)—Fire Chief Robert Swenson today estimated damage at $100,000 from a fire that burned out a two-story combination apartment house and taxi office

Residents of the eight apartments on the second floor escaped injury but lost all their personal belongings Three cabs owned by the Gongoware Taxi service were saved

Swenson said the fire apparently started from a furnace explosion in the basement. The flames spread to the offices and garage of the taxi firm, then to the apartments The roof collapsed at the height of the blaze.

Volunteers from 14 companies in Irwin and North Huntingdon Twp battled the flames for two hours. Several firemen were treated at the scene for smoke inhalation, but returned to duty

Wants to Help Keep Closer West Alliance

WASHINGTON (UP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles laid before Adlai E. Stevenson today the administration's ideas for strengthening the West's defenses in the face of Russia's missile advances.

Dulles called in the two-time Democratic presidential candidate for consultations in an attempt to minimize political attacks on the administration's past and future answers to the Russian challenge.

Stevenson told newsmen as he entered the State Department that he will try to be "helpful to the extent that I can agree" with Dulles' plans

He refused to say whether he had any specific proposals of his own. But he said on his arrival in Washington Sunday that "simply a great effort in scientific and research and missile development is not a sufficient response to the challenge which is now apparent"

Seeks Closer Alliance

He said he would like to help bring about not only a closer military alliance but a "closer political association through NATO" and to help "rebuild mutual confidence between the United States and our allies"

'Genuine partnership means more than pooling our military and scientific resources," he said.

President Eisenhower also has invited Stevenson, whom he defeated twice for the presidency, to meet with him before the President leaves Dec. 14 for the NATO session

Will Pool Resources

One of the big proposals this country plans to put forward is to convert Western Europe's defenses to the age of nuclear rockets Another is the pooling of western scientific resources and brains to meet Russia's scientific challenge.

Stevenson said he favored broad cooperation with the NATO allies on a number of fronts, including the development of joint policies and increased efforts in the field of disarmament.

"The measure of the emergency is not merely military," he said.

"Simply a great effort in scientific and research and missile development," he said, "is not a sufficient response to the challenge which is now apparent."

Must Rebuild Confidence

Discussing his new mission as an administration consultant, the former Illinois governor said "we must rebuild mutual confidence between the United States and our allies"

"Sputnik has awakened us," Stevenson said "I am glad it has"

He said that America's allies "need us and we need them more than ever and I am here to help if I can to bring about a closer military and political association through NATO"

Stevenson added that "I believe that disarmament, at least nuclear disarmament, is the best hope for survival and that we must never be diverted from that goal

Elizabeth Man Held in Death Of Man in Auto

PITTSBURGH (UP) — James P McNeil, 27, Elizabeth, was held on a district attorney's detainer today, pending an investigation into the death of Ralph Rothey, 45, Forward Twp

Rothey died Sunday night in McKeesport Hospital about 12 hours after he was found slumped over in his parked automobile. An autopsy showed death was the result of a skull fracture and other injuries

County detectives said that Rothey was ejected from a McKeesport tavern Saturday night after getting into a fight McNeil said he went out with Rothey to pacify him.

McNeil said Rothey started to throw punches and then fell to the ground. He said he put Rothey's unconscious body in the victim's car which was parked across the street from the cafe A gas station attendant found Rothey about 8 a m. Sunday.

Dr Theodore R. Helmbold, county pathologist, was performing an autopsy on Rothey's body.

McNeil said he and Rothey were the best of friends. He admitted that he 'maybe shoved him once" Police said McNeil has failed to explain why he left Rothey alone.

Hoodlums May Help Police in Anastasia Case

NEW YORK (UP) — Some "bits of information" picked up by police following the hoodlums convention at Apalachin, N Y., may link the meeting to the Albert Anastasia murder case, police said today.

Acting Chief of Detectives Edward Byrnes denied a previous report, however, that the hoodlums convention had provided 'the first good lead" in the case.

Byrnes would not say whether the "bits of information" tied in directly with the Anastasia killing. He said that "no special lead has been developed" by Det Lt. James Burke, in charge of the Anastasia case, and Det Thomas Fusco of his squad.

The two detectives went to Binghamton Friday to consult with state police and federal agents who broke up the meeting of 65 gangsters convened at the mountain-top home of Joseph Barbera last Thursday They were expected to remain there through today

Anastasia was slain in a Manhattan barber shop Oct 25 There had been speculation the Apalachin gathering of the underworld clan from points as far away as Havana and California was connected with the slaying

'Cannibal' Deaths of Eight Are Suspected

PLAINFIELD, Wis. (UP)—The newly butchered body of a neighbor woman and the skulls of seven other persons were found Sunday night in the house of a 51-year-old bachelor farmer

Police said the man Ed Gein, had confessed killing Mrs. Bernice Worden, 58, and then raised his hands like claws and snarled, "I've been killing for seven years"

He was to be arraigned today on an undefined felony charge pending further investigation of the junk and bone - strewn nine-room house

Waushara County District Attorney Earl Killeen said, "It appears to be cannibalism"

Newspaper clippings about the disappearance or unsolved slayings of a number of Wisconsin women were found in Gein's house along with a child's clothing. Police said Mrs Worden's disappearance Saturday from the hardware store she operated was similar to the unsolved disappearance three years ago of Mary Hogan, a tavern operator in nearby Pine Grove.

Portage County Sheriff Herbert Wanserski said Gein told a conflicting story and at one time said he "robbed graves" to get the skulls and bones in the house

Authorities said they found in the house belts which appeared to have been made of human skin A human heart was in a pot on the kitchen stove

Mrs Worden's son, Frank, a deputy sheriff, said Gein had come into the hardware store Saturday and invited Mrs Worden to go roller skating with him. He said his mother said she hadn't been skating "for years" and refused.

Worden said he then went out and returned to find the store spattered with blood and both his mother and the cash register missing

Deer hunters later reported seeing Gein driving Mrs Worden's pick-up truck He was arrested at the home of a neighboring farmer

Authorities said a trail of blood led them to a shed attached to the Gein farmhouse where they found Mrs Worden's badly mutilated body hanging by the heels.

Charleroi Firemen Reach $75,000 Goal

Charleroi firemen reported today that they have collected more than $75,000 for their proposed new fire hall

The firemen predicted that they will reach their goal of $100,000 in a week or so

The new Charleroi fire hall will cost an estimated $200,000. The firemen plan to finance half of the cost through special promotions.

Small Colleges In Fund Drive

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The presidents of 12 Western Pennsylvania small colleges today launched a "funds for survival" drive aimed at raising $1,500,000.

The colleges, members of the Foundation for Independent Colleges, directed their campaign at Western Pennsylvania business and industry. Teams of educators will visit more than 250 companies in Allegheny County alone.

Representatives will also visit businesses in Butler, New Castle, Sharon, Warren, Corry, Irvine, Oil City, Franklin, Titusville, Bradford, Erie, Washington, Canonsburg and other communities.

H. W. Prentice, chairman of Armstrong Cork Co., said each college seeks $35,000 to keep alive. Colleges participating are Allegheny, Alliance, Chatham, Mount Mercy, Seton Hill, St. Francis, St Vincent, Thiel, Washington & Jefferson, Waynesburg and Westminster.

Racket Figure In Bentleyville To Face Trial

A Bentleyville racket figure is under indictment today on two counts of filing false returns on income from gambling operations.

Albert G. Pauline, 47, was indicted Friday by a Federal Grand Jury in Pittsburgh.

The government contends that Pauline filed figures of less than $100 in April and in December of 1956, and that in the two cases the true figures should have been $1400 and $1500.

Pauline served 28 days at Washington County Jail earlier this year as the result of the arrest that has led to his trouble with Federal authorities.

He and four other men including Stanley Trasatti were picked up by State Police in a raid in Bentleyville and charged with operation of a lottery.

After trial before Judge Roy I Carson, Trasatti and another defendant were freed for lack of evidence. Two other defendants paid fines. Pauline was first sentenced to 10 months which was later reduced to two months but Pauline finally left the county jail after serving 28 days on written order from Judge Carson, vacationing at the time in Florida.

Marianna Bank Official Held In Embezzlement

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Mrs Sarah Weaver, 41, former assistant manager of a Washington County bank, will appear before a U.S. commissioner today to post $1,000 bond on charges of embezzling $7,100.

Mrs. Weaver, taken into custody at her Marianna home Saturday, was employed at the Marianna branch of the First National Bank of Fredericktown for more than 20 years.

FBI agents said Mrs. Weaver made false entries in the Marianna bank's books over a period of 10 years. She was arraigned Saturday before U.S. Commissioner Fred E Olbey and released on her own recognizance.

Bank officials reported Mrs. Weaver's activities, FBI agents said. They said a check of the firm's books showed that several false entries had been made.

The bank balance on Saturday should have been 032.223 instead of the $25.123 stated, the FBI reported.

Racial Agitation Leads To Alabama Gun Brawl

CLANTON, Ala. (UP)—An Alabama sheriff indirectly blamed racial agitation today for the ambush wounding of a deputy and another white man that led to the police slaying of a Negro suspect.

Police questioned six other suspects in connection with the ambushing that began with what authorities called a routine drivers license check and ended with deputies and state troopers storming a Negro's barricaded home.

The Negro was killed in a hail of bullets as he emerged with a shotgun in his hand.

The six were rounded up after deputies and highway patrolmen from eight counties had stormed the barricaded home of Willie Dunnigan, 46-year-old Negro, and killed him as he ran from the house with a cocked shotgun across his arm. Dunnigan's wife was wounded and several deputies were nicked by shotgun pellets.

Deputies said they had gained little information from the suspects. "All of them deny the shooting and tell one story one minute and another the next," one officer reported.

Witnesses said it "sounded like a small war" when officers, accompanied by 150 to 200 angry townspeople, bore down on the Dunnigan home in a pre-dawn mist Sunday, carrying hand grenades, rifles and tear gas.

"We are completely baffled as to why this happened," Chilton County Sheriff Hugh Champion said.

The affair began, investigators said, when Deputy Floyd L. Porter, 27, stopped a car driven by John Price, a white man, at about 7 p.m. Saturday. While he conducted a routine check of the driver's license a shotgun blast tore across the top of the car and some of the pellets struck a passenger, Billy Rhodes.

Porter raced across a field in the direction from which the shot came, and as he rounded the corner of a church he was hit with a blast that mangled his left hand, and punctured a lung.

Other authorities were summoned with bloodhounds and followed a trail to the Dunnigan home, investigators said. An order for Dunnigan to come out was answered by another shotgun blast, Champion said.

Reinforcements arrived some time later and officers moved in, firing into the house. Tear gas drove Dunnigan out, authorities said, and he was wounded more than 20 times as he raced across the yard. He died a short time later in a hospital.

His wife, Louise Dunnigan, was wounded in the abdomen and was reported in fair condition at the hospital. Several children were in the house but none was hit.

Select Jury in 'Pike Trials for Conspiracy

HARRISBURG (UP)—Selection of a jury began today in Dauphin County Court for the trial of 13 Scranton area men accused of conspiracy in the Pennsylvania Turnpike scandals.

The defendants include four officials or employes of the Rogers Brothers Construction Co., Scranton, and nine inspectors for the Manu-Mine Research and Development Corp., Reading, which held the controversial contract for mine filling work under the Northeastern Extension.

The Scranton firm provided the silt to flush into mine voids under the extension and Manu-Mine did the work.

An investigation of the contract by the state Justice Department resulted in the conviction last July 7 of five persons on charges of an attempted $19,500,000 swindle of turnpike funds, including former Commission Chairman Thomas J. Evans, Coaldale, and former Commissioner James F. Torrance, Export.

The Rogers Brothers officials going on trial are Joseph Rogers, Scranton, co-owner; George Oswald, Dunmore, superintendent, and Robert Havard, West Pittston, and Walter Kotas, Clarks Summit.

The Manu-Mine inspectors are Donald H. Burkert, Ashland, inspector in charge of flushing operations; and Marion Fronduti, Dalton; John Munley, Archbald; Roger A. Hines, West Pittston; John F. Williams, Clarks Summit; Evan Moses, Wilkes-Barre; William Lipferg, Tuckville, David R. Jones, Elkins, W. Va., and Francis Chiazza, Carteret, N.J.

A special grand jury said the eight inspectors admitted receiving bribes of from $50 to $100 each per week, "arranged" by the Rogers Company officials and Burkert in the alleged falsification of weight slips for truck loads of silt for the project.

Senate Rackets Probers Look at Carpenters Union

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — A Teamsters Union official who opposed the election of James Hoffa as the union's president was beaten Sunday at a meeting while trying to nominate a trustee opposing the local's administration selection.

William Crager, 33, who received hospital treatment after the attack, said he was beaten, kicked and hit with a chair by three men who then ordered him from the hall.

Crager is chairman of the committee for the Betterment of Welfare for the 5,000 member Local 470.

Crager said he was beaten by union "goons" while at a meeting to propose candidates for trustee of the local. Crager said he attended to nominate a candidate in opposition to the administration's candidate.

Crager said he and about 50 of his followers were at first barred from the meeting, but that later he was permitted to enter alone. He said one of the union leaders told him that if he knew what was "good for him" he would leave the meeting. When he refused, he said, he was attacked.

Crager said he appeared on a radio program Saturday night and blasted the use of strongarm methods by unions.

He said he plans to return to the radio station tonight to discuss the situation further.

More Tests for Youthful Slayer

GREENSBURG, Pa (UP)—Ten-year-old Harry Geyer Jr., who killed his father after an argument over breakfast cereal, was scheduled to undergo further sanity tests today at the Juvenile Detention Home here.

Geyer, a fifth-grade pupil, was examined by Dr. Louis Altman Saturday morning. The youngster's attorney, A. C Scales, said the tests would be continued.

The good - looking youngster killed his father, Harry Geyer Sr., 41, in their Level Green home Thursday morning with a single shot from a .22 caliber rifle. The father had just prepared a breakfast of eggs and oatmeal for his son.

Pentagon Blanket Of Secrecy Hit By Congressman

WASHINGTON (UP) — Chairman John E. Moss of the House Government Information Subcommittee charged today that an unnecessary Pentagon blanket of secrecy is "stifling" the nation's scientific advancement.

"Excessive governmental restrictions on the flow of scientific information," Moss said, are hampering the United States in the race with Russia for missile and technological superiority.

The California Democrat made the statements in advance of his subcommittee's new hearings into secrecy in the Defense Department. The group planned to hear today from Assistant Defense Secretary Murray Snyder and Rear Adm. John Hoskins, the department's chief security censor.

Also scheduled to testify is Trevor Gardner, former Air Force research chief who quit in a huff over the lag in U.S. missile progress.

Moss said Dr Clifford Furnas former assistant secretary of defense for research and development, was scheduled to appear tomorrow. Furnas, now chancellor of the University of Buffalo, also has been critical of the administration's rocket programs.

Moss said he hoped the hearings "will point the way to a lightening of the blanket of secrecy stifling scientific advance."

Subcommittee aides said Snyder would be asked whether the White House is "controlling" information released to the public by the Defense Department on the missiles or satellite programs.

Dumbauld to Take Oath as Judge

UNIONTOWN, Pa (UP)—Edward Dumbauld, 52, Uniontown attorney will be sworn in Tuesday as a Fayette County judge.

Dumbauld, son of the late Fayette County Judge H. S. Dumbauld, was appointed by Gov. George M. Leader Friday to fill a Common Pleas Court vacancy resulting from the death of Judge S. John Morrow.

After the first of the year, all four Fayette County judges will be Democrats.

Reds Accused of Big North Korea Buildup

UNITED NATIONS (UP)— The United States accused the Communists today of a vast military buildup in North Korea, including the "illegal" importation of more than 700 warplanes.

U.S. Rep. Walter H. Judd (R-Minn.) made the charge in a speech prepared for delivery before the General Assembly's main Political Committee.

The committee is considering an 11-power resolution calling on the Communists to accept U.N. principles for the solution of the Korean problem, including free elections.

Reds Maintain Large Force

"With some 35 Communist divisions in North Korea at present and many more previously, it is self-evident that there was a deliberate refusal by the Communist side to report the combat material introduced to support these forces," Judd said.

He said the Communists "willfully ignored" the provisions of the armistice.

"At the present time the United Nations command has established that more than 700 combat-type aircraft, the majority of which are the latest type jets, have been illegally introduced into North Korea.

"They are now based on the reconstructed and improved airfields, all of which were useless when the armistice was signed."

Besides aircraft, Judd said, "there has been a steady stream of military equipment, including tanks, armored cars, rocket launchers, howitzers, heavy mortars and heavy artillery, flowing into North Korea since the signing of the armistice agreement."

Judd noted that the United Nations thus has been forced to strengthen its own defensive position to restore the military balance.

Several Arrests Made Here

Cutting Scrape Yesterday

Monessen police had an assortment of weekend reports on the dockets today, running from a cutting scrape to disorderly conduct.

Essix Belton, 413 Third St., Monessen, was taken to Charleroi-Monessen Hospital yesterday afternoon following a cutting scrape near 11th St. and Schoonmaker Ave. He suffered cuts about the body and is reported in "good condition.

Being held on an aggravated assault and battery charge is Theodore White, 27, of 1246 Morgan Ave., Monessen.

Rudolph Forty, 35, of 426 Third St., Monessen, was taken to Charleroi-Monessen twice this morning because of a head injury suffered, police said, when he fell in a club on Third St.

Monessen police took Forty to the hospital about 6:30 where four stitches were placed in his head.

Found on Street

Forty refused to remain in the hospital and started home. Chief of Police Regis Lee, North Charleroi, said that Forty was found bleeding profusely later on a North Charleroi street. He was taken back to the hospital, treated again and then released into the custody of his mother.

Floyd Ballard, 29, Pittsburgh, was arrested early this morning for creating a disturbance on 11th St. He is scheduled for a hearing in police court.

James Cunningham, Belle Vernon was charged with traveling too fast for conditions between Fourth and Fifth streets on Schoonmaker Ave. yesterday afternoon.

William Harvey, 25, of 317 Third St., Monessen, was charged with disorderly conduct after he allegedly made a remark to Patrolman Nello DiBiaso about police tagging cars on Sunday.

DiBiaso quoted Harvey as saying "The City must be pretty hungry to tag cars on Sunday." Harvey denied making the statement.

IN CSTC PLAY — Katherine Louttit, a 1957 graduate of Monongahela High School, will appear in the California State Teachers production of "Pygmalion," the classic play by George Bernard Shaw. This will be Miss Louttit's first appearance before the college footlights. The play will be staged Wednesday through Saturday at the CSTC auditorium.

Farm Worker Breaks Up Quiz Show with Speech

NEW YORK (UP)—A bearded farm worker sneaked in front of a television camera on a nationwide quiz program Sunday night. Before he was led off stage he presented to an estimated audience of 45 million people the first words of his "message to the American people."

While contestant Norman Fruman was answering an $8,000 question and a studio official said "everyone was too busy to see him," Richard Fichter, 34, of Springville, Pa., stepped on stage and began to read from his 300-word, typewritten speech on CBS' "$64,000 Challenge."

"Dear Americans, the Russians have gotten a step ahead of you and you are trying to catch up," Ralph Story recovered from his surprise and grabbed Fichter's arm. He turned Fichter over to a studio aide who ushered him off stage.

The farm worker told network official Julia Shorwell he could not "sleep two nights ago and got up and wrote a message to the American people about godlessness." His message said Americans were "frustrated" because Russia was ahead scientifically and were "frantically blaming first this one and then that one."

Fichter, who got into the studio on a regular ticket after being thrown out of afternoon rehearsals, was turned over to police who questioned him for about an hour. He was later taken to Bellevue Hospital for "mental observation."

Fort Pitt Co. Sells Brewing Part of Firm

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Fort Pitt Industries Inc. announced today it has sold its brewing interests and will concentrate on the manufacture of electronics and hi-fi equipment.

The firm said its brewing division was sold to the Gunther Brewing Co., Baltimore, Md., which will continue to brew and distribute Fort Pitt and Old Shay beer. No sale price was announced but it was believed to be about $1,300,000.

Fort Pitt officials said the company would continue to negotiate for sale of its Sharpsurg, Pa., brewing plant which has assets valued at more than three million dollars.

Gunther Board Chairman A. Kreiger said Fort Pitt's key personnel would be retained at a Pittsburgh headquarters to handle sales and distribution. He said Gunther also planned an erpanded advertising and sales promotion campaign for Fort Pitt beer.

Fort Pitt Industries was formed last year to enable the old Fort Pitt Brewing Co. to diversify its products. The firm since has purchased the J.P. Seeburg Co. which makes components for Nike and Sidewinder missiles, juke boxes and telefax equipment.

The Seeburg Division has a reported $6,500,000 backlog in orders, compared to two-million dollars a year ago, Fort Pitt said.

HOME-MADE ROCKET — Michael Kelly (left), 17, and John H. Davis, 16, are shown in Washington with the home-made rocket they will launch Nov. 23 with the hope that the project will bolster President Eisenhower's faith in the scientific future of America's youth. The 60-inch missile was built out of steel piping. The Army has agreed to let the preparatory school students set up a launching platform at Camp Hill, Virginia.

Pianist to Open Civic Music Here Thursday

Heinz Hammerman, young pianist who had a sensational debut in New York's Carnegie Hall last season, opens the annual Monessen-Belle Vernon Civic Music Association concert series here Thursday night.

Vienna-born, Hammerman received most of his training in South America under the famous virtuoso, Claudio Arrau, and in recent years, in the United States.

He is making his first transcontinental tour of the U. S. this season.

Hammerman and his mother fled Vienna 24 hours after the arriving Nazis arrested his father, whom they have never seen since.

Mother and son made their way via France to South America where the talented boy was enabled to continue his piano training.

Now in his middle twenties, Hammerman is regarded by many critics as one of the most promising of the world's younger artists.

Following his debut last year the critic of the New York Times registered "an extremely favorable impression" while the Herald-Tribune described Hammerman as "virtuoso material and not one whit less. His tone is monumental, his fingers magical..."

The recital will be given in the Monessen High School auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Doors of the auditorium will be opened at 7:30. Only members of the Civic Music Association are admitted to its concerts although the membership cards are transferable.

Six Air Force Bombers Make Record Flight

PLATTSBURG AIR FORCE BASE, N.Y. (UP)—Six potential H-bombers Sunday demonstrated sweeping U.S. air striking power by making a 10,425-mile non-stop flight in less than a day.

Refueling in air, the big B-52 jet bombers flew from Homestead Air Force Base, Fla., to Buenos Aires, Argentina, and back to this Strategic Air Command base in less than 22 hours.

The planes left Homestead at 5:50 a.m. e.s.t. Saturday and swooped over Buenos Aires in observance of Argentina's Aviation Week at 2:44 p.m. The first plane flew over Plattsburg at 3:32 a.m. on the return trip.

Flight Commander Brig Gen. William K. Martin said the jet bombers averaged more than 500 miles an hour for the 21 hour and 42 minute flight. "There wasn't a hitch," he said.

The Air Force said there was no attempt to set either a speed or distance record. However, the flight was viewed as a demonstration of the global air striking power of the Air Force recently stressed by President Eisenhower and other leaders in the wake of Russia's missile and satellite advances.

Only last week Vice Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Curtis E. LeMay completed a record round-trip flight between the United States and Buenos Aires in a KC-135 jet tanker.

LeMay's flight followed by a few days Soviet Party boss Khrushchev's boast that the days of the manned bomber are over.

Donora Man in Divorce Action

A divorce complaint has been filed in Washington County Court by Riccardo Migliori, 17 Watkins Ave., Donora, against his wife Ethel Migliori, Yukon.

They were married Dec. 18, 1953, at Winchester, Va. In the suit, Migliori alleges his wife deserted him on Feb. 17, 1955.

Distributor in Bentleyville Loses License

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Liquor Control Board has suspended the license of Lou's Tavern, 314 Brownsville Road, Pittsburgh, because the licensed premises are directly connected with living quarters of other persons.

The suspension is for five days, starting Dec. 9, and thereafter until the condition is corrected.

The board suspended these establishments in western Pennsylvania, effective Dec. 10:

Loyal Order of Moose No. 20 of Uniontown, 19-23 E. Penn St., in Uniontown, for 15 days, gambling; Bentleyville Beverage Sales, 1000 Main St., Bentleyville, 10 days, sales to minors and sales in quantities of less than a case (distributor's license); Penn-Negley Hotel 5606 Penn Ave., Pittsburgh, 15 days, sales to intoxicated persons and disorderly operation.

Local Forensic Members Win

Judy DiBuono and Jean Buchar, Monessen High School Forensic League members, each won two first places in a speech tournament held Saturday at Blairsville.

Other local students winning honors were Rosemary Vallozzi, Marcia Cenkner, Kathy Swade, Joan Niznansky, Peggy Riva and Roberta Godla.

Some 400 students representing 25 schools participated.

Carolyn Sedey, NFL director, accompanied the local group.

Special Programs at Brownstown Church

The Rev. Miller Lydick, director "Light In The Valley" devotional program, will continue his evangelistic ministry at the Christian and Missionary Alliance Tabernacle, R. D. 1, Fayette City, Brownstown, each evening this week except Saturday.

Service time is 7:30 p.m. All services are open to the public.

The series will come to a close Sunday evening Nov. 24.

Aged Oakland Woman Is Beaten to Death

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Police worked on the theory today that the slayer of an elderly widow, found stabbed and beaten to death in her Oakland nome, telephoned headquarters to report his crime.

The body of Mrs. Elizabeth Ensinger, 84, was discovered in the living room of her home Sunday night shortly after a mysterious male caller phoned police to: "Send an ambulance and a police car to 348 Bouquet Street."

Homicide detectives, led by Police Superintendent James W. Slusser, were ordered to check all pay stations in the city's Oakland area.

Slusser said part of the first floor of the duplex home had been ransacked in the belief that Mrs. Ensinger, who lived alone, had kept a large amount of money hidden. She was the owner of six buildings and lived a secluded life, police said.

Detectives said central police station received the mysterious call about 7:51 p.m. The operator who took the call immediately flashed an emergency signal, then turned back to the phone to question the caller, but the man had left the phone. The telephone operator rang back and a woman answered. She told police the man had just left.

Detectives said they also plan to question George Stauffer, a half brother of the victim who had lived in her home until last January.

Capt. Joseph Flynn, homicide squad, said two drawers of a chifforobe had been turned "topsy-turvy." He said this indicated "that whoever it was knew exactly what he was looking for."

Officers said a knife was found lying on a kitchen floor. They said the victim had apparently scuffled with the intruder since her shoes were kicked off.

An autopsy showed Mrs. Ensinger had been stabbed in the face, her jaw broken and her head severely bruised.

Aircraft Firm to Fire New ICBM Soon in First Such Experiment

WASHINGTON (UP)— The Martin Company rushed today to complete arrangements for firing the Titan intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM), second of America's 5,000-mile rockets.

The Baltimore aircraft firm set up a new division to speed "on-the-spot" arrangements in Cape Canaveral, Fla., for launching the Air Force Titan, now under development.

The company named G. T. Willey, vice president in charge of manufacturing, to take over immediately as boss of the new division. He will supervise all Martin activities in the Patrick Air Force Base-Cape Canaveral area, including testing of the Matador tactical missile.

Willey also was given orders to speed arrangements for the launching of the Navy Vanguard earth satellite. The Vanguard rocket with a test satellite aboard, has been scheduled for firing next month.

Indicates Launching is Near

The Martin announcement indicates the United States is getting closer to the first launching of the Titan. The other American ICBM being developed, the Atlas, has been test fired twice — both times unsuccessfully.

Meanwhile, Trevor Gardner, former Air Force research chief, recommended that the Eisenhower administration consider bringing Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer back into federal service to help on the missile-satellite program.

Oppenheimer, who directed the first atomic bomb project, was denied access to government secrets in 1954 after he was termed a security risk.

Gardner said the United States is two to three years behind Russia in missile progress and has "a full scale national emergency on its hands." He said Oppenheimer has "one of the finest minds in the world" and should be put to work on the rocket-satellite program.

Other developments in the missile-satellite field:

—Chairman John E. Moss of the House Government Information Subcommittee charged that a Pentagon blanket of secrecy was 'stifling scientific advance."

—Dr. Alan T. Waterman, head of the National Science Foundation, blamed public indifference to science for the U.S. lag in satellite development.

—It was learned that the administration is rushing work on a "package" program aimed at producing more scientists and engineers by giving bright high school students some financial help in going to college.

—Civil Service Commissioner Harris Ellsworth said in an Indianapolis speech that the government was hampered in its search for scientists by the public's "appalling" lack of appreciation for government employment.

Duvall to Speak In Washington

Donald C. Duvall, assistant to the president and vice president-industrial relations of the Pittsburgh Steel Co., will be the main speaker at the 14th annual dinner meeting of the Washington County branch of the Pennsylvania Economy League on Wednesday.

The meeting will take place at the George Washington Hotel in Washington, Pa.

Duvall, a native of Monessen, joined Pittsburgh Steel in 1941 as a time study engineer. He attended Penn State and earned a bachelor's degree from California State Teachers College.

Conference On Civil War Held In Gettysburg

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP) — A Civil War conference was told Sunday night that the struggle between the states resulted not only in the saving of the Union and the end of slavery, but the "conversion of an unorganized people into an organized nation."

Dr. Allan Nevins, Columbia University history professor and director of the three-day conference of historians, said the U.S. was "largely in a jellyfish stage by choice" in 1860.

"Americans had no standard time, each city fixing time for itself," he said. "They had no accepted gauge for railroads. They had no national labor unions worthy of the name, no trunkline railroads, almost no professional associations—no state bar associations, for example. Down to 1860 not one American book had been published on business organization and management."

Nevins said the organizing capacity displayed by the North "did more to win the war than armies, or leaders like Grant and Sherman because it was basic."

We Mustn't Copy Soviet Education

AMONG their other effects, the Sputniks seem to be inspiring considerable admiration in the United States for the Soviet system of education. The reasoning behind this seems to be that a country which can train scientists who can put a satellite in orbit around the earth must have a good educational program.

There is undoubtedly some logic in this. And inquiries into the Soviet system of education will be all to the good, particularly if they disabuse American minds of the habit of discounting everything that exists behind the Iron Curtain.

We certainly hope, however, that the American people, and especially those who have responsibilities in education, do not go too far in their admiration of the Soviet school system. We hope they realize that, like everything else in a Communist dictatorship, education serves the purposes of the state. And to the extent that the Russian education system now serves the dictators who rule Russia, it is nothing to be admired — and surely not copied — by people who wish to live in freedom.

Soviet education places great emphasis on the sciences and technology. One of things about it that seems to be impressing so many Americans and causing them to question the adequacy of our own system is the rate at which the Soviets are producing engineers, physicists, chemists, etc. And the reaction seems to be that America must quickly start doing the same thing in about the same degree.

But while our education may need some increased emphasis on science and engineering, there is grave danger that in meeting the Soviet "competition" in this field, we shall develop an education system designed more to serve a materialistic, astheistic dictatorship than a nation of God-fearing people living in freedom.

* * *

OUR EDUCATION, like the rest of our national life, is based on freedom of choice. The boy who likes science and whose abilities lie in that field becomes a scientist. But the boy who has an aptitude for public service studies history and economics and political science and someday may run for Congress.

This, of course, does not happen in Communist Russia. The element of choice, which makes life really worth living, largely is eliminated from babyhood on.

So whatever we may admire about Sovict education, we dare not admire this. To do so might be fatal.

In a letter to the New York Times last week, Samuel White Patterson, professor emeritus at Hunter College, said:

"Let us not throw out the wisdom of the centuries in our feverish desire to forward scientific instruction. Of course, we must have more men of science, but they cannot be created in a day. . .

"Let us screen all applicants in the widest possible democratic way, but let us remember that the best are few. Better a hundred inspired men than a thousand who only look for a job in a presently very attractive field . . .

". . . We need well-rounded men and women in this world of ours; men and women educated for a life as well as trained for a livelihood, educated to feel and think creatively in the broad realm of human experience we call America. . .

"May we never forget that true education strives to attain the spirit of the ages rather than the spirit of any particular age."

* * *

WE AGREE with Marion B. Folsom, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, who thinks "it would be tragic for mankind if we sought to imitate or compete with Soviet education on Soviet terms."

"Soviet achievement in education," says Secretary Folsom, "has been accomplished at the sacrifice of freedom of choice for the individual. We in America will stick firmly to the central objective of our society — the fullest development of each individual."

To those who fear that America cannot survive unless it matches the Soviet system in all respects, we say they place too little faith in the strength of a free people and too much faith in the strength of an enslaved, materialistic system. And if mere fear of losing our lives were to drive us to copy a system we detest, the Communists will have won a cheap victory indeed.

Merry-Go-Round—

Air Officers Fight, Then Forget It

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — A crap game at an Air Force officers club at Middletown, Pa., might have created a serious racial incident the other day, but good sense on the part of two officers patched things up.

The incident occurred when Maj. Gen. George Acheson, Commander of Olmstead Air Force Base, slugged a Negro officer, Capt. John W. Read.

Mr. Pearson

Officers on active duty had what they called a "dining-in" affair, which consisted of dinner, drinking, and recreation. The recreation consisted chiefly of a dice game.

Captain Read kept stopping the dice game. As the dice were rolled, he kept calling, "stop the game." This, under the rules, he had a right to do three times on each point, as long as the dice were actually in motion and had not come to a stop.

General Acheson, no relation to the former Secretary of State, seemed to think that Read was doing this too often and also calling out after the dice had come to a stop so that he could see whether they favored him. He was also putting his hand over the dice. Acheson told Captain Read to quit obstructing the game.

The Negro Captain made some remark that his money was in the game, too

Finally the commanding officer walked round the table and told Captain Read to his face:

"Now look, I have told you two or three times not to do that. You have been covering the dice with your hands and that's cheating. If I have to tell you once more. . ."

Captain Read muttered under his breath, a derogatory phrase.

Without further ceremony, the General slugged the Captain.

Captain Read, when queried, refused to admit that the incident took place. He said General Acheson has a good record and he would say nothing to hurt his career.

General Acheson was asked: "We understand there was a dining-in affair at Olmstead on November 6."

"Yes," he replied

"And that it consisted of dinner, drinking, and recreation in the form of a dice game"

"Yep," was the General's frank reply.

"And we learned that you hit and knocked down Capt. John W. Read."

"No, I bounced one off his chin."

The General then described the incident quite frankly, admitted both had been drinking but were not drunk, explained that it was the remark which got him sore. He said that Read had come around the next day and apologized. The General told him to forget about it Acheson described Read as a 'fine officer"

Both officers have good records. Of course, craps and liquor can sometimes muss up a record, but it's a tribute to relations in the Air Force that an incident of this kind could take place without arousing racial passions.

Unhappy Adlai

Nobody around Adlai Stevenson, including Adlai himself, is very happy about his conference with John Foster Dulles today, and some of his friends are urging him not to get hooked up with what they describe as the "floundering" Eisenhower administration.

They point out that at the same time Dulles invited Stevenson to Washington, the Republican National Committee is mailing out reams of propaganda accusing the Democrats of starting two world wars and warning that Democrats are not qualified to lead the nation with two Russian sputniks in the skies. Simultaneously, Meade Alcorn, GOP National Chairman, has been working up the alibi that the guided missile lag is because the Democrats cut missile research from 1942-47.

Stevenson's friends also point out that when Roosevelt wanted Republican cooperation prior to Pearl Harbor, he personally invited Frank Knox, former GOP candidate for vice president, to be Secretary of the Navy, and Henry L. Stimson, former Secretary of State under Hoover and Secretary of War under Taft, to be his Secretary of War. Their responsibilities were great and duties were definite, not nebulous as that of an adviser to the Secretary of State.

When Adlai first met with Dulles on October 25, Dulles had written out a press release announcing that Stevenson would become an adviser. He was all set to consider the whole business finished.

Stevenson, however, pointed out two things. 1, if he did not agree with the Dulles program for NATO he would do the administration a disservice by being in the position where he would have to express that disagreement; or, 2, if he disagreed and then kept quiet he would do himself a disservice. That was why he wanted to study the administration's NATO plan in advance.

So he told Dulles to prepare the administration's position for the Paris meeting and that he, Stevenson, would then tell him whether he could go along with it. In effect he said: "I can't tell you what your policy should be, but I'll be glad to tell you if I think you're wrong."

Note — One thing that works against Democratic cooperation is the fact that, although Roosevelt invited Wendell Wilkie to the White House and Truman invited Herbert Hoover, Eisenhower has not yet invited either Stevenson or Truman for a personal talk. In the last few days, Eisenhower took time to talk with John Schapiro, owner of the Laurel Race Track, took time out to dedicate the Atomic Energy Building, address the FBI school, and play several rounds of golf, but he would not take time to confer with Stevenson or Truman although both were in or near Washington.

Delayed Report on Hurricane

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

CAMERON PARISH, La. — This is the story of Hurricane Audrey four months after — four months after its wind and water had literally poured havoc over 1500 square miles of southwest Louisiana and part of Texas.

Mr. Drummond

This is the story of how the stricken community of Cameron Parish, the dead center of Audrey's fateful path — immobile and nearly lifeless for weeks after disaster struck so suddenly — now is within reach of almost total recovery — except the recovery of its dead.

New hope, dignity, independence and the tools of livelihood are rapidly being restored to the 6,000 citizens of Cameron. After all seemed lost and nearly every family had felt the pain of death, they now stand in the breaking sunshine of a new life.

This is the gift-without-strings of the American people to fellow Americans in distress regardless of race, creed or color — administered principally through the tender and trustworthy hands of the Red Cross.

Today not only life, but most of the joy of living, not only hope but the substance of things hoped for, are returning to Cameron because of the generosity and humaneness of a whole nation and because the American people, by making the Red Cross the trustee of its generosity, willed that this humaneness be made tangible and practical.

Cameron Parish, 90 per cent laid low by forces it could not escape, is being put back together again physically, morally and spiritually.

Many New Homes

Twenty-four hours after Hurricane Audrey had literally spilled the Gulf waters 35 miles inland, you could walk down the desolated streets of little Cameron where the only signs that people had lived here were the water-burrowed holes under houses that had vanished forever. A front walk might remain and it would lead to — nowhere. There was no power, no light, no food, no refrigeration; life was insupportable. In nearby Lake Charles the Red Cross was feeding, sheltering and nursing 25,000 refugees from two parishes.

But this was only the first and, however grim and desperate, the lesser job of humaneness which civil defense, the armed forces and the National Guard, along with the Red Cross, performed with tireless zeal.

The less dramatic, the less publicized, the more vital and complex job was still ahead, the job of restoration and recovery — in this instance the restoration of a whole community, a whole people who had no place to live and no means to make a living.

Today, four month after, Cameron Parish has hundreds of new homes and others are going up before your eyes. No one has been intentionally overlooked, most everyone has been helped; nearly all will be better off

It has taken toil and tears, courage and faith It has taken a whole nation's will to help and the capacity to lay its hands on the means to help. Out of the experience of serving in 6,000 disaster operations during its 76 years, whenever nature has run amuck, the Red Cross is doing it again with quickness and skill

And what, through the Red Cross, have the people of the nation done for the people and to the people of Cameron? I believe the facts will best come to life if I give you a physical audit, a financial audit and a morale audit.

Physical Audit

This is the physical audit for Cameron Parish:

Families applying for assistance, 1,537; families assisted, 1,471; families provided with household furnishings, 1,190; families provided with food and clothing, 1,295; labor and materials financed to rebuild 731 homes and for major repairs on 380 homes; hot meals served, 141,000.

The financial audit for all of Hurricane Audrey aid:

Families applying for aid, 3,633, families helped, 3,343, emergency mass care, $244,916, building and repairs, $1,000,024; household furnishings, $708,084, other assistance including medical care and occupational items, $193,288; food, clothing and maintenance, $214,291; service and administraion (12.6 per cent), $340,456.

Total Red Cross aid to alleviate Hurricane Audrey's damage, $2,700,999.

This is the morale audit:

FAITH. — In the words of Sheriff O B Carter: "My people have seen what God and man in association can do; they will never forget it."

HOPE. — In the words of a merchant back in business: "I lost everything. . was ready to quit Somehow they gave me back my nerve. I'll make it now."

GENEROSITY. — This gift to preserve and nourish the independence of a whole community is more than charity because it removes the need of further charity.

Today Cameron is made up of 6,000 better neighbors because the rest of America was such a good neighbor.

Quotes from the News

By UNITED PRESS

WASHINGTON — Adlai E. Stevenson, on arriving here for bipartisan conferences with Secretary of State Dulles aimed at strengthening the Western alliance:

"(America's allies) need us and we need them more than ever and I am here to help if I can bring about a closer military and political association through NATO."

WASHINGTON — Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.), in criticizing newly-appointed government foreign affairs consultant Adlai Stevenson for signing a Democratic Party policy statement critical of the Eisenhower administration:

"I think they (Democrats) made it pretty clear that foreign policy will be a major issue in the next congressional election."

WASHINGTON — Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), in saying he thought the use of federal troops in the Little Rock racial crisis set a precedent that may plague the present or future administrations:

"If every time a court order is disobeyed, we decide to enforce it by sending federal troops in to do the job at the point of bayonets, then we are leading to. . .a military government in this country."

The Cynic's Corner—

"Let's see, it's twelve years from Hiroshima to Sputnik, six of them were Democratic, six Republican . . . any intelligent voter can figure that out!"

National Affairs—

Pressure Groups Will Give Congress Trouble

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government's own figures identify the pressure groups among which President Eisenhower confidently expects to have trouble in the next session of Congress.

Pressure groups are so - called because they exert pressure on Congress for this or that — usually some of the taxpayer's money.

Mr. Wilson

The President told his Oklahoma City audience last week that increased defense expenditures would require off-setting economies. He added:

"But the savings of the kind we need can come about only through cutting out or deferring entire categories of activities.

"This will be one of the hardest and most distasteful tasks that the coming session of Congress must face, and pressure groups will wail in anguish"

Wails of Anguish

With such language the President put the congressional politicians' feet to the fire, his own along with them. There will be a congressional election next year. Pressure groups not only will wail in anguish against proposed economies, they probably also will threaten the economizers with political death at the polls.

There is, for example, the farm bloc in Congress representing the more direct beneficiaries of the five billion dollars which the administration proposed to spend on agriculture and agricultural resources in the present fiscal year. Farmers comprise a powerful pressure group.

There are the organized veterans of World Wars I and II, a pressure group which has been the major factor in boosting government spending for veterans' services and benefits above the five-billion-dollar mark.

Labor and welfare projects accounted for more than three and a half billion dollars in the 1958 fiscal year budget; natural resources $1,500,000,000; commerce and housing $1,700,000,000; international affairs and finance $2,400,000,000.

The Untouchables

Untouchable is the interest charge against the national debt which this year will amount to more than $7,300,000,000. The President holds untouchable, too, the cost of military and other aid to foreign nations

The entire categories of activities to be killed, therefore, must be found among expenditures now established in the areas of agriculture, labor, welfare, veterans' services and benefits, commerce and housing.

It will not be easy and may not be possible The alternatives are these: Tax hikes to cover additional defense costs or more government borrowing The odds against an income tax increase in an election year are very long. Government borrowing is the easier way.

It also can be the way toward national bankruptcy and inflation. In 27 fiscal years since 1930, government has spent more than its tax take and borrowed the rest.

That is what shrunk the U.S. dollar to about half its old time purchasing power. There is no guarantee that the faithful buck will not shrink further to a dime or, even, to nothing.

Behind The News—

Soviet Russia Fails In International Bid

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Soviet Russia apparently has failed in an attempt to set up a new international Communist organization.

Mr. McCann

There have been persistent reports recently that Soviet leaders were trying to establish such an organization.

Ostensibly, the object of the organization would be to promote unity among Communist parties inside and outside the Iron Curtain

Its real object, of course, would be to restore Russia to its one-time position as the fountainhead of Communist wisdom

But Nikita S Khrushchev, the Soviet Communist Party leader, now says that no such organization is either planned or needed.

In his interview last Friday with Henry Shapiro, chief of the United Press Moscow bureau, Khrushchev said:

Served Their Functions

"The times do not require any Comintern or Cominform, which played their historic role and fulfilled their functions."

Khrushchev referred to the old Communist International, called the Comintern, and the more recent Communist Information Bureau, called the Cominform.

Khrushchev told Shapiro emphatically that no successor to these organizations was planned.

But there is good reason to believe that a new organization may have been discussed in Moscow last week, when the leaders of the Communist parties of many countries were there for the celebration of the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

Assuming that Khrushchev meant what he said in asserting that there is no plan for a successor to the Comintern and the Cominform, it is most likely that the reason is a lack of enthusiasm for the idea

It was reported last January that Soviet leaders had sounded out Communist chieftains of other countries on a new organization and had been rebuffed At that time, it was said that Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai of China and Wladyslaw Gomulka of Poland were among those who had objected. There was no mention of President Tito of Yugoslavia.

A Notable Absentee

Tito was a notable absentee from last week's Moscow celebration He cancelled his visit, pleading an attack of lumbago. It is still a question whether his absence was a diplomatic one.

But there are strong indications that the Chinese and Polish Red leaders and Tito want no part of a new organization which would restore Russian Communism to its old supremacy.

The old Comintern was set up in 1919 It was a vicious agency of Red propaganda, intrigue and subversion. Josef Stalin dissolved it in 1943 as a gesture to Russia's wartime allies.

The cominform was set up in 1947 as successor to the Comintern. It never functioned well. Stalin used it as his instrument in trying to ruin Tito when Tito committed the deadly crime of refusing to subordinate Yugoslavia's interests to Russia's. What happened was that not Tito but the Cominform was ruined. It was dissolved in 1956.

The Reds explained that it was out of date. And so it was—Russia had lost for ever its domination of world Communism.

Church Women in Missionary Study

Almost 100 Lutheran women from the Monongahela Valley gathered on Friday evening at Trinity Lutheran Church of Donora for the second in a series of valley mission study classes. This is an annual missionary program.

The evening was devoted to the foreign mission phase for which the theme has been "Cross and Crisis in Japan."

Miss Martha Licht, president of the Donora Women's Missionary Society and Guild, extended the welcome and opened the meeting. The devotional period was conducted by women of the Lynnwood Lutheran Church. Taking part were Mrs. Charles Naleppa, Mrs. John Critzle and Mrs. William Pierotti.

Representatives attended the meeting from the Faith Lappard Missionary Society of St. Paul Lutheran Church of Monessen; Trinity of Donora; Grace Church of Monongahela; St. John, and Christ Church of Charleroi.

The women of St. John Lutheran Church of Charleroi were in charge of the program. Three of them, Mrs. Stephen Hurynak, Mrs. Buchta and Mrs. Lettrick took part in a review of the book "In the Gray Rain". This was a continuation of the Japanese study.

Film Shown

The program continued with the showing of a film "Younger Brother" by the Rev. L. A Black, pastor of the host church. The film told the story of a young Japanese and how he accepted Christianity.

Mrs. Chester Bird of Monongahela conducted a business session. She announced that Mrs William Houser has been secured as one of the guest speakers at a spring meeting.

Mrs Ben Farquhar of Monongahela, statistical and financial chairman, headed a discussion on the possibility of all of the component missionary groups raising funds for a common mission project.

Home Missions

Mrs. Bird announced that this program concluded the study of foreign missions and that home mission study would begin at the next session. It will be held on March 21, 1958 at the Lynnwood Lutheran Church with the Donora women in charge of the program. "Christ, the Church and the Race" will be the study theme.

A social hour followed with the Donora women in charge. Japanese appointments and decorations were used in the serving. Mrs. John Balas was chairman assisted by a large committee.

Group Holds Induction Rites

Induction of new members highlighted the recent meeting of the Monongahela Valley B'nai B'rith Girls held at the Kneseth Israel Center. The candlelight ceremony was conducted by Joyce Safier.

Each of the girls was presented with a certificate and pin by her "big sister". They then recited the BBG pledge with Shelly Weiss, president, in charge.

Officers of the Monessen chapter of B'nai B'rith Women, and parents of the girls were present as guests.

Today the girls are in Pittsburgh to see "Search for Paradise" as anniversary observance.

St. Spyridon Ladies Aid in Religious Rite

Yesterday morning after the Liturgy at St. Spyridon Greek Orthodox Church, the Ladies Aid Society held a religious rite for the newly elected officers.

They are Mrs Jennie Pagonis, president; Mrs. Julia Strombakis, vice president; Mrs Catherine Karavolis, secretary; Mrs. Stella Momos, treasurer, Mrs. Lena Samathrakis, social secretary.

The religious oath was administered by the church pastor, the Rev. Iokim Isidorides, who also gave a talk on the work of the group.

A committee of 12 women took part. They and the officers will be honored at a social affair at a later date.

Local Attorney Will Address BPW Members

The legislation committee will have charge of the Wednesday evening dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club, and the guest speaker will be Daniel Myshin, local attorney.

The meeting will be held at 6:15 at Johnson's restaurant, and the business session will be conducted by the president, Mrs. Elizabeth Costa.

In charge of arranging the program will be Melia VanDuzen, chairmen, Emily Geeza, co-chairman, Elizabeth Derby, Isabelle Johnson, Mary Snark, Sophie Evancho.

Annual Christmas Party Planned by Vets Auxiliary

Plans were made for the annual Christmas party in the from of a tureen dinner at a meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to World War One Barracks 350 of the Monongahela Valley held on Wednesday evening. The session was in the Veterans of Foreign Wars home, Charleroi, with representatives from all valley towns attending.

The holiday event was set for Dec. 4 with Mrs. Edward Murray of Charleroi as general chairman. Mrs. Carl Younkin of Belle Vernon will have charge of the program, and there will be a fifty cent gift exchange. Husbands and other guests will be invited to the affair.

Mrs. Louis Roth conducted the session and extended thanks for the remembrances sent her during her recent hospitalization.

Mrs. Susie Brown was welcomed as a new member. Mrs. Robert Harper, chaplain, conducted the opening. Mrs. Russell Hormell reported on ill members including Mrs. Hattie Hill of Donora, Mrs. Margaret Saverino of Monessen and Mrs. Margaret Wiggins of Charleroi.

Announcement was made that 1958 dues are due. It was decided to invite Mrs. Norma Dillage of Oregon to attend the joint installation of the men's and women's lodges next March. She national president of the order.

Luncheon was served by the hostess, Mrs. Roth, assisted by several members.

Rosella Brazzon, Carlo Ross Wed At Winchester

Rosella Brazzon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Brazzon of Belle Vernon R. D.3, and Carlo Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emidio Ross of Ellsworth, were united in marriage in Winchester, Va.

The wedding was an event of Nov. 5.

The bride wore a red sheath dress with black accessories for her wedding with a corsage of red roses.

After spending a few days in Virginia the couple is now at home at 811 Monongahela St., Belle Vernon.

The bride attended Marion schools, and her husband is an Ellsworth graduate. She is employed by Hillman Transportation Co. in Brownsville. He operates his own business in Ellsworth.

Ruth Dunlop, Jack Kott Are Wed in Virginia

Ruth Dunlop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dunlop of Fairhope, became the bride of Jack Kott, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kott of Monessen on Saturday, Nov. 9, at 2 p. m.

Vows were exchanged in the Presbyterian Church of Winchester, Va. with the Rev. Raymond Womeldorf officiating.

The bride wore a beige suit with beige and brown accessories.

The couple left for a short trip after the wedding. Mr. Kott has now reported to his base at Jacksonville, S. C. where he is serving with the U. S Army. Mrs. Kott is making her home with her parents.

Pitt Students Are B'nai B'rith Dinner Speakers

Shirley Garfield and Stephen Freehof, students at the University of Pittsburgh, were presented as guest speakers at the dinner meeting held recently by the B'nai B'rith Women of Monessen at the Park Casino.

They spoke on "Hillel, and What it Means to Me." Hillel is a program set up to provide a headquarters for Jewish college students. It provides "a home away from home," and is a gathering place where young people can pursue a social, religious, educational and cultural program.

Mrs. Paul Stuhl was in charge of the business session, and she reported on a public relations meeting which she attended.

A special holiday project was planned by the women. Since the hospitality shop at the Oakland Veteran's Hospital will be closed on Christmas day the group will serve cookies throughout the day to the veterans. They also plan to provide greeting cards for hospitalized veterans.

An open meeting was announced for tomorrow evening at the Donora synagogue with Mrs. Rae Morrison of Philadelphia as guest speaker. Those needing transportation are to contact Mrs. Stuhl at MU 4-9931.

Franco-Belgium Ladies to Meet

Members of Franco-Belgium Ladies Auxiliary will meet tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the hall for the regular meeting. The session was postponed from last week since the women held their anniversary banquet last Thursday evening.

It was held at Twin Coaches, and covers were laid for 25. Fall flowers decorated the tables. Mrs. Dora Gais, president, was in charge of the program. She was presented with a gift, and she then presented all of the officers who served with her with remembrances.

Mrs. Mary Vernet, banquet chairman, was presented with a gift.

The program for the evening then featured the Liberace floor show.

INTRICATE BANDINGS — of self fabric distinguish a dress and jacket costume of shadow box tweed in tones of purple, black and white. Banding at the small squared neckline is repeated at the waistline and the bottom of the jacket.

Croatian Catholic Guild Will Have Thanksgiving, Christmas Social Events

Plans for a Thanksgiving dance and a Christmas party were discussed at the November meeting of the Croatian Catholic Ladies Guild held in the Croatian Hall.

The Thanksgiving event will be a round and square dance in the hall, and all proceeds will go towards the building fund of the new church.

The annual Christmas party was set for Wednesday, Nov. 11. The committee in charge will include Mrs. Elizabeth Beres, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Barbara Belavich, Mira Bakale, Mrs. Jophephine Bradica, Mrs. Rose Chuk, Mrs. Agnes Matko, Xora Miketich, Mrs. Anno Novakovich, Mrs. Dorothy Novakovich, Mrs. Helen Plavetich, Mrs. Mary Penich, Mrs. Rose Poverzenich, Mrs. Mary Saflin and Mrs. Anna Trembach.

Officers were nominated for next year, and the election was planned for next meeting.

President Wilma Thomas was in charge of the business session which began with prayer by the Rev. Theodore Benkovic. There were routine reports by Mrs. Mary Gustin, secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Beres, treasurer, and Mrs. Stephanie Smoke, chairman of the sick visitation committee.

Vice President Frances Yakovac reported on the recent bake sale held by the group.

After the business session Father Benkovic discussed the progress of the construction of the Croatian Church. He stated that the Croatian congregation should be able to attend midnight mass on Christmas Eve at the church.

Prizes Awarded

A social hour followed the session. Receiving prizes were Mrs. Frances Plavetich, Frances Yakovac, Mrs. Stephanie Smoke, Mrs. Anna Novakovich and Mrs. Helen Zoretich.

Luncheon was served by the committee in charge of the social hour: Mrs. Mary Matush, chairman, assisted by Joan Matush, Mrs. Mary E. Matush, Mrs Mary Cvetan, Mrs. Gerry Elyanich and Mrs. Anna Jezerinac.

Scouts to Have Guest Speaker

Senior Girl Scout Troop 19 met on Monday evening in the Civic Center and plans were made to have a covered dish dinner in December.

Plans were also discussed to have Elizabeth Farinetti, foreign exchange student, speak at the next meeting on Dec. 2.

The session concluded with Taps. Mrs. Jane King is leader.

Speaking of Beauty
"PAINT YOUR OWN PORTRAIT"
By James V. Bonafed

Paint Your Own Portrait?
Most of us aren't so talented that we can paint our own pictures for the living room wall. Yet a good many women feel they can make a pleasing picture with their own hairbrush! And this is true . . . if you use your comb and brush to preserve the basic portrait — the professional permanent wave and the professional setting which your trained hairdresser has given you.

We're Not Just Making Motions!
Probably it does look that way . . . but there's a plan behind every quick movement of our fingers as we set your hair. (You, yourself, may be able to twist a fine ringlet into place! But that's far from the whole answer, where setting is concerned!) Someday, just for fun, try to sketch your set as it is given. You'll be amazed to find that many ringlets are turned that way, or that. Sometims a quick sweep of the comb before the ringlet is twisted is responsible for the whole, lovely finished line! We work, you see, with a finished portrait in our minds. It's not so simple after all!

Line and Balance . . . the Real Secret
These are the features that give your hair a "styled" look! The artist who works on canvas must first master line and balance. In the same way, we hairdressers learn this—and many other beauty secrets before we are graduate beauticians, ready to practice our art on your precious head! I can truly tell you, every beautician in my salon is a true professional beauty artist. I allow no one to join me until I'm certain he or she is ready to make you as pretty as a picture.

Busy Hands . . . with a Plan
The manner in which we cut and shape your hair, the way we block it into sections to wrap your wave, the quick motion that brings us the right-size curling rod for each separate area . . . all this is artistic know-how. From the moment our hands touch your hair, the plan is there. Those hands work surely, swiftly from hours and hours of practice—but they never work haphazardly!

The Picture Clears . . . In Your Mirror!

ON THE BALL

By CLAIR BROWN

Crawley Leading Daytton 'Carrier'

Here's some more info on former Monessen High gridder Carl Crawley . . . He is now the leading ball-carrier on the Dayton frosh squad having carried the ball 32 times for a gain of 140 yards or 4.3 yards per try . . . He also rates high for pass-receiving with five catches good for 32 yards, unusual for a fullback . . . They're still talking about that 102,000-plus crowd which witnessed the Rams-49er pro game last week but that game still missed the all-time high of 105,521, set in 1947 by Southern California and Notre Dame . . . The Rams made $266,495 as their share of the game from the 49er clash . . . Ten per cent of the gate is all the rental fee asked by the operators of the Colesium.

California High School is seeking a basketball foe for Tuesday, Dec. 3 and incidentally the Trojans should do quite well this season in the valley section . . . When Monessen and Donora played Friday night there were no less than three players related to competing coaches . . . Nick Kuzemka, Donora tackle, is a nephew of 'Hound line coach Andy Kuzemka, Neill Clark, Dragan guard, is the son of Moon Clark, Donora line mentor and of course. Armand Niccolai, Jr., is the son of the Monessen coach . . . Jake Kovalchik, also a Donora assistant coach is now the borough's tax collector. He's a Notre Dame grad like Head Coach Jimmy Russell.

Grid Official 'Ousts' Policeman

District grid official James Clutter has one for his memoirs from that Monongahela-Brownsville game Veterans Day . . . It is nothing for an official to put a player out of the game or to eject a coach but Clutter had to order a policeman off the field! . . . It seems the officer of the law was heckling Clutter along the sidelines to such an extent it interfered with progress of the game. The officer even went so far as to take a cheerleader's megaphone to magnify his voice to make the situation more annoying . . . So Clutter gave him the boot . . . Did you know that only two of the original teams in professional football circuits (when the pro sport was founded) are still operating, and both out of Chicago, the Bears and Cardinals?

* * *

Speaking of Chicago, it must be a great sports town, for you hear very little talk of moving any Chicago franchises and the city supports two in both the grid sport and baseball . . . By the way George Halas, owner of the Bears, once played right field for the Yankees but his stay at the post was short-lived because of a certain rookie who bounced him . . . The rookie's name? — Babe Ruth . . . It'll be time to announce the United Press All-State team soon and unless someone stuffs the ballot box in favor of eastern teams, Western Pennsylvania and valley teams should rate a couple of spots on or near the first team.

Dragons Almost Title Contenders

Donora fans are bemoaning the fact that except for a matter of perhaps two full minutes the Dragons could be in the WPIAL title chase this season . . . Against Greensburg the Dragons had the ball on the two foot line when the game ended and against the Charleroi Cougars led the entire game. Charleroi coming back in the dying seconds to go ahead but still Donora mustered enough moxie to send Tom Urbanik all the way to the Charleroi 12 on a pass but no time for another play . . . Outside of these two games the Donorans have lost only to a non-WPIAL team, North Catholic.

Today's Sports Parade—

Bill Russell Pacing Celtics' NBA Drive

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)— The professional basketball season is barely under way today but already the Boston Celtics are making a shambles out of what must laughingly be described as a "race" because of a guy named Bill Russell.

The six-foot, 10-inch Russell is not the greatest player in pro basketball. He can't drive like Tom Gola and as a shooter he couldn't carry George Mikan's over-sized scoring slippers.

But because of his absolutely amazing defensive abilities he may wind up as the most valuable player in the history of pro basketball.

This is Russell's first full season in the National Basketball Association. He joined the Celtics in mid-December last season, after leading the United States to triumph in the Olympic Games, and quickly became one of the main reasons why Boston romped to a mop-up victory.

This season, if you listen to the raves from all quarters, Russell is going to come fully into his own as the Celtics run off and hide from the rest of the league.

Is Fantastic Defender

"In an era of 100-point - plus games, Russell's defensive talents are going to cost the opposition 20 points a game," explained one rival coach. "He's absolutely fantastic."

They've been using that adjective on the 220-pound 23-year-old for several years now. As an undergraduate at the University of San Francisco he was everybody's All-American as he led the Dons to two straight NCAA championships.

He can run everlastingly, and with great rapidity. As an example, Bill did the 400-yard dash in 50 seconds. On top of which, he can jump like a kangaroo with a hot foot. After all, he did six feet, seven and one-half inches in the high jump.

Last year, in his first pro season, he fitted exactly into the needs of a Boston club which has two great sharpshooters in Bob Cousy and Bill Sharman but needed strength under the boards. Cousy and Sharman averaged 20.6 and 21.1 points per game respectively over the season.

Russell, in 48 games after he joined the club, averaged only 14.7 points. But he gave the club the defensive strength it needed.

Leads NBA Rebounders

Consider, as a case of point, the playoffs. In 10 games, Russell picked off 244 rebounds. The closest man to him on his own club was Tom Heinsohn with 117. The closest rival, also in 10 games, was Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks with 168 rebounds.

But this season, Russell has started to wheel and deal in the fashion which made him such a sensation in college — blocking opponents' shots before they can get them away.

"We call it the Russell shock treatment," coach Pete Newell of California once explained. "He was so terrific at blocking shots that he gave all the rival shooters the jitters. They would drive in because they were looking over their shoulders wondering where Russell was and whether one of those big paws would come out of nowhere and block the ball."

Hempfield Is Next for Greyhounds

Cagers Step Up Sessions

Coaches Frank Janosik and Frederic Feldman of the 1957-58 Monessen High School and Junior High School squads respectively, began increasing the tempo of drills today as the basketball season rapidly approaches.

Janosik has had the varsity (minus the football-player cage candidates) out for two weeks and now must "get going" to be ready for rugged McKeesport next Friday night.

Although Feldman issued his first call for practice last Friday, the first day permitted under Junior WPIAL rules, he must also step up the pace immediately as the Juniors open with Rostraver in an exhibition, also next Friday night (6 o'clock)

Janosik will probably be without the gridders who hope to play basketball, for the first game at least as the 'Hounds still have a Brownsville game after this week's Hempfield tilt.

Feldman greeted 55 candidates Friday and expects the total to go to 60 at today's drills.

Perfect Record College Teams Now Number 18

NEW YORK (UP)— The list of unbeaten and untied college football teams today numbered only 18 members half of whom already have completed their regular-season schedule.

The most notable victim, of course, during the past weekend was Oklahoma, which had headed the perfect record ranks since 1954. Texas A&M, Hofstra, Amherst and Prarie View (Tex.) were the other teams that failed to survive weekend action.

With the elimination of Oklahoma and Texas A&M, Auburn and Arizona (Tempe) State were the only major representatives on the list. Each has an 8-0 record and each has two games to play.

West Chester (Pa.) is the highest scoring team in the select group with 327 points in nine games. Jamestown (N.D.) completed its six-game schedule unbeaten, untied and unscored upon.

Katsuleris Best In Demo Women's

Mary Katsuleris' 140-336 paced the Monessen Democratic Women's League bowling action over the weekend as the Panthers and Leopards copped wins.

Other scorers were M. Monios 113-303, K. Kazekevich 116-311, I. Skomsky 106-301, and R. Grillo 112-305.

Standings — Leopards 20-10, Panthers 16-14, Tigers 15-15 and Lions 9-21.

IRISH UPSET OKLAHOMA — Oklahoma's Carl Dodd (22), dashes into Notre Dame territory for a 13-yard gain as Sooner fullback Morris blocks out Nick Pietrosante (49) of the Irish. The underdog Notre Dame team toppled Oklahoma 7-to-0, and ended the nation's longest collegiate winning streak at 47 games. The game, which was witnessed by 62,000 fans at Norman, Oklahoma, marked the first defeat for the Sooners since November 9, 1953 and the first time in 123 games in which they have been held scoreless.

Dabiero Takes Lead In Big Five Scoring

Thanks to the three touchdowns he scored against Monessen Friday night Donora's Angie Dabiero was able to climb over Charleroi's Joe Uhlman in the Big Five Conference scoring race.

The three scores against the 'Hounds gave Dabiero a total of 73 points on 12 touchdowns and an extra point to 11 TDs and a point after for Uhlman who failed to score against Redstone despite the high scoring (40-7) game.

Uhlman, however, has another game to play, (against Brownsville this Friday night) while Dabiero has completed his career for the Dragons who closed out their season Friday against the locals.

Monessen's Ken Bronson, who is tied for third place with Tom Urbanik of Donora missed a golden opportunity to take over sole possession of third but failed to score against the Dragons while the Locals were virtually stopping Urbanik "dead."

Carl Rattay Climbs

Carl Rattay, Greyhound fullback, who has been languishing in seventh place jumped all the way to a tie for fourth with his two touchdowns against the Dragons, deadlocking Charleroi's Ron Cosner, both with 42 points. Cosner had been sidelined due to injuries but returned to action long enough to boot four extra points. Eighteen of Cosner's total points are via the point after TD routine.

Dan Barton 'Hound quarterback jumped a notch with his extra point Friday night.

Two new names entered the scoring race (too late for a title but soon enough for mention) in Don Reeves of Charleroi who scored twice against Redstone for 12 points and Allen Sepsi of Brownsville who tallied once against Connellsville.

The complete list of scorers follows:

NFL Attendance Over 2,000,000

By UNITED PRESS

The National Football League surged over the two million mark in attendance Sunday when five games attracted 194,190 fans.

The Lions and Forty-Niners played before a capacity crowd of 56,915 at Detroit, the Bears-Colts game at Chicago drew 47,168 and the Giants-Eagles game at New York drew 42,845. The Browns and Redskins played before 27,722 at Washington while the Rams and Packers drew only 19,540 at Milwaukee.

Last week the Rams played before a record pro crowd of 102,368 at Los Angeles. The Steelers and Cardinals did not play Sunday.

Irish-Iowa on TV

CHICAGO (UP)— Next Saturday's Notre Dame-Iowa game will be televised regionally in the Midwest by NBC. Game time is 2 p.m. e.s.t.

Adamio Smashes 'Parlors' Records

Mike Adamio broke all existing Grand Parlor's Mixed Ball and Chain League records last night with a 256-254-144 card for a 654 three-game total.

North and West copped the matches over the East and South respectively.

Other high scorers were Ray Echart, Joe Koget, Cee Brown, Jayce McKeever, Jean DeGregorio and Ruth Koget.

Standings — North 18-9, West 18-9, South 11-16 and East 7-20.

Papantanakis High Again in FS Loop

George Papantanakis again paced the Fence Shop Bowling League race scorers in weekend action as he rolled a 204-500 card.

Lou Sellero, Ridsy Calderone Sr., Ridsy Calderone, Jr. George Bobby, and Joe Russo were close behind in pin-toppling.

Match winners were the Bears and Eagles.

Standings — Bears 19-11, Eagles 17-13, Rams 13-17 and Hawks 11-19.

Allenport Stays Unbeaten in DIL

Allenport remained unbeaten in (USWA) Bowling League action over the weekend with a 3-0 win over Monessen. Donora bested Monessen RR in the other match, 3-0.

Top scorer was Bill Weilwas of Allenport with a 203-498 trailed by Andy Dacko and Joe Koget of Monessen, Bert Johnston of Donora and Bill Kimmel of Monessen Southwestern.

Standings — Allenport 9-0, Monessen 6-3, Donora 3-6, Monessen 3403, 0-9.

Locals Can't Afford Letdown Against Rugged Spartans

Monessen High School's Greyhound gridders, still shaking their heads over the "one that got away" at Donora Friday night, today began preparing for a rugged test against Hempfield Saturday afternoon.

Saturday's afternoon contest will mark the first time in a number of years, except for a Veterans Day games, that a valley high school tilt has not been played under the lights.

Friday night at Donora, the locals played one of their finest games of the season as they saw a 6-0 lead dissipate to a 19-6 margin for Donora, then came back to a 19-13 count and had the ball on the Donora five-yard line with minutes to play when a fumble stopped the attempt at either tying or winning the game.

The locals can't afford a letdown this week against Coach Bill Abraham's Hempfield eleven as the Spartans have a rugged AA entry this season.

Were In Title Race

Until their fifth game of the season the Spartans were in the AA title running and although smarting from a 27-7 defeat at the hands of New Kensington Friday night, have lost only to top teams like the contending Kensters. The Hempfielders have clubbed teams like Har-Brack by as much as 38-12.

When Abraham greeted the gridders early this fall no less than 14 lettermen were on hand including a hot-shot back in Sonny Kreul, the teams leading scorer.

In addition to the Monessen-Hempfield game this week, another valley game shows Charleroi battling Brownsville in the windup for Big Five Conference teams as Donora and Monongahela have completed their season records.

Charleroi appears in as conference champions as a win over the rather weak Brownies will turn the tide. Otherwise a tie with Donora will result for the Conference title should Brownsville upset the Cougars.

Roscoe Drops Cup Encounter

Roscoe dropped a 9-4 national amateur cup soccer tilt yesterday while Avella was beating Bethel Park, 2-1.

Emedo Campanelli's penalty kick with 10 minutes to play won the game for Avella after Joe Venditti had scored for the winners and Rus Piccalo deadlocked the contest with a penalty kick.

Five goals by Steve Grivnow of McNulty highlighted his team's win.

Tom Craddock and Bob Craddock each scored twice for the winners as did John Bailey for Roscoe. Stan Milkovich and Bob Sowden also tallied for Roscoe.

Lack of Reserves Beats Waynesburg

Lack of reserves hurt Waynesburg College Saturday afternoon as they were smothered, 44 to 7, by Central State College at Wilberforce, O.

In the first quarter, the Jackets scored on a 20-yard pass from Art Walker to frosh Barry Getto. Ron Anderson converted to give the Jackets seven points. Central did not score in the first period.

Waynesburg's lead was short lived however as Central bounded back in the second quarter with 19 points. Waynesburg could not score a TD for the rest of the contest, while Central piled up a total of 44 points.

Waynesburg's defense gave out after the first quarter as most of their first string was benched on injuries.

It was the final game of the season for both teams.

The Yellow Jackets finished with three wins, three losses (to Westminster, W. Va. Tech and Central State) and a tie, while Central State compiled a 3-4-1 record.

Score by quarters:

Waynesburg	7	0	0	0—7
Central State	0	19	12	13—44

TD's—Getto, Toler, Thomas 2, Drummond, Woodall, Waters, Harris, EP's — Anderson; Drummond, Bailey.

New Castle Grid Mentor Resigns

NEW CASTLE, Pa. Nov. 18 — James Curry has resigned as head football coach at New Castle High School without giving any reason for the action.

"I'm through with football," Curry said in making the announcement yesterday. There have been unconfirmed reports of dissension in the coaching staff.

Curry's resignation will be effective at the end of the school term next June. He will continue as the school's physical education teacher.

Penn State Eyes Bowl in Prepping For Panthers

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UP)—The Penn State football team, under consideration for a bowl bid as a result of its 14-10 victory over Holy Cross Saturday, began pointing today for this week's crucial game with the University of Pittsburgh.

Penn State coach Rip Engle hoped to have Al Jacks, first string quarterback until he injured his shoulder in the Syracuse game, back in action against the Panthers.

Although his replacement, sophomore Richie Lucas, has played fine football, Engle said he was tempted to send in Jacks when the going got tough against Holy Cross.

The coach said Jacks might have helped in a drive that failed near the end of the first half and "it would have been nice to have a seasoned hand at the helm in those closing minutes."

Penn State saved its victory in final period by making a goal line stand and then having Lucas take an intentional safety to run out the clock.

'Old Timers' Play Key Roles in Tightening National Pro Races

By UNITED PRESS

Bobby Layne, Lou Groza, Ben Agajanian and Norm van Brocklin—four guys whose pro football careers total 40 years — played key roles Sunday to help make the National League division races as tight as wet shoes.

Layne, a 10-year-man, helped produce a three-way tie for first place in the Western Division by leading the Detroit Lions to a 31-10 victory over the San Francisco Forty-Niners. The Baltimore Colts took advantage of Detroit's triumph in the day's top game and tied the Lions and Forty-Niners for the lead by turning a series of Chicago Bear errors into a 29-14 victory.

Groza, playing his 12th season for Cleveland, booted a 23-yard field goal against the Washington Redskins with only 13 seconds to go as the Browns rallied for a 30-30 tie that kept them ahead of the second-place New York Giants in the Eastern race.

Ben Agajanian, a nine-year-pro, kicked two 26-yard field goals within 50 seconds as New York shut out the Philadelphia Eagles, 13-0. The victory, coupled with the tie at Washington, enabled the Giants to cut Cleveland's lead to a half-game.

Van Brocklin, playing his ninth season for the Rams, pulled Los Angeles within a game of the Western lead when his 34-yard touchdown pass to Lamar Lundy with 81 seconds to go produced a 31-27 victory over the Green Bay Packers.

The Pittsburgh Steelers, third in the East at 4-3, and the Chicago Cardinals were idle this weekend.

Hershey Jumps AHL Margin

By UNITED PRESS

The Hershey Bears swept a home-and-home weekend series with the Rochester Americans to reopen a healthy 11-point lead in the American Hockey League.

The Bears turned back Rochester, 2-0, Sunday night on goals by player-coach Frank Mathers and Lorne Davis after rolling to a 3-1 victory over the same club Saturday night.

In Sunday night's other action, the Cleveland Barons downed the Providence Reds, 4-1, and the Buffalo Bisons edged the Springfield Indians, 6-5.

Cousy Injured; Out Two Weeks

BOSTON (UP)—Bob Cousy, star of the unbeaten Boston Celtics, was sidelined for at least two weeks today with an injured right thigh.

"He may have a blood clot in his thigh," said coach Red Auerbach who added that Cousy will be out "two, maybe three weeks."

Cousy suffered the injury Saturday night when Philadelphia's Neil Johnston accidentally bumped against him as the Celts were winning their 11th consecutive game this season.

Steelers Resume Grid Practice

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers resumed practice today for their game with the Green Bay Packers at Forbes Field next Sunday.

The Steelers, idle Sunday because of an open date, are in third place in the National Football League's Eastern Division with a 4-3 record.

Name Top Players

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Curbstone Coaches Club will select an outstanding player from Pitt, West Virginia, Carnegie Tech and the Pittsburgh Steelers today to receive awards at the group's annual banquet Dec. 1.

Ira (Rat) Rodgers, All-America fullback from West Virginia, will be the principal speaker today. He will enter football's Hall of Fame at the WVU-Syracuse game in Morgantown next Saturday.

West Chester, Juniata, Lock Haven Undefeated

By UNITED PRESS

West Chester, Lock Haven and Juniata remained today as Pennsylvania's representatives among the 18 college football teams in the nation to remain undefeated and untied.

West Chester ended its season with a 52-0 romp over California Teachers for its 14th straight victory, 9 of them this year. The Chester County team piled up 327 points this season against 40 for their opponents.

Lock Haven scored its 11th straight, eight this season, by beating Mansfield Teachers 13-0, while Juniata, which has lost but once in the past five years, stretched its string to 11, with a 40-13 romp over Albright. Six games were won this year.

Penn won its second straight for the first time under Coach Steve Sebo by walloping Columbia, 28-6, to come out of the Ivy League cellar. Frank Riepl ran 66 yards for the first Penn score, the longest from scrimmage by a Quaker since 1949, and figured in each of the other touchdowns for the Red and Blue.

Penn State moved into line for a Gator Bowl bid by squeezing by Holy Cross, 14-10. The Nittany Lions stopped Holy Cross six inches from the goal line and handed the Crusaders a precautionary safety in the final two minutes to preserve the victory.

Thiel beat Allegheny, 19-9; Bucknell lost to Delaware, 34-13; Carnegie Tech downed Westminster, 27-6; Clarion defeated Indiana Teachers 14-7; Dickinson tied with Johns Hopkins, 13-13; Drexel won its first game, 6-0, over Coast Guard; East Stroudsburg and Kutztown deadlocked, 14-14, and Franklin and Marshall defeated Muhlenberg, 41-20.

Lycoming edged Geneva, 21-19; Gettysburg trounced Temple, 42-7; Grove City beat Hiram, 13-7; Haverford downed Susquehanna, 20-2; Lafayette defeated Western Maryland, 40-13; Lebanon Valley stopped Ursinus, 13-7; Lehigh rebounded against Buffalo, 27-7; Lincoln was blanked by Shaw, 46-0, and Trenton Teachers downed Millersville, 32-6.

Moravian beat Wagner, 32-14; Swarthmore got by PMC, 14-8; Scranton shut out Wilkes, 27-0; Slippery Rock defeated West Liberty, 12-0, and Rochester won over Washington and Jefferson, 25-12.

Panthers Begin Preparing for Penn State Tilt

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The University of Pittsburgh football team, idle during the week end, settled down to practice today in preparation for its game with Penn State here Saturday.

Coach Johnny Michelosen's squad was expected to be in tip-top condition for the Lions. Only center Charley Brueckman, an All-America candidate, may miss the game. He is suffering from a shoulder separation.

The Panthers, who have a 3-5 record, have an added incentive for whipping their traditional rivals. A victory over the Lions, a possibility for the Gator Bowl, would eliminate them from consideration for any major post-season game.

Penn State, victor over Holy Cross last Saturday, has a 6-2 record. A crowd of some 30,000 fans was expected for the annual tussle.

Severe Test Seen For Champ Humez

PARIS (UP) — Frenchman Charles Humez, European middleweight champion, is expected to receive a severe test tonight in his non-title 10-round bout with Andre Drille, champion of France.

Humez was champion of France in 1954 when he won the European title by knocking out Tiberio Mitri of Italy. After that triumph, Humez followed the European custom of giving up his lesser title.

Where Are They Now?

By United Press
TOMMY FARR

Tommy Farr, a rugged Welshman, lost every one of his five fights in the U.S. on a swing more than 20 years ago but the former British and Empire heavyweight king won American hearts nevertheless. Though a hopeless underdog when in 1937, he was the first to challenge newly crowned champ Joe Louis, he took everything Louis threw at him for 15 full rounds and still was snarling at the finish—a loser but on his feet.

Whatever happened to Tommy Farr? He tried a comeback at 37 in 1950 while a successful pub owner and he fizzled quickly. Today, he's a sports columnist in a large circulation London newspaper.

'Shake-up' Paying Off for Pistons

Along with a change in home sites, the Detroit Pistons got a good personnel shake-up during the off-season and today they are leading the Western Division of the National Basketball Association.

The former Fort Wayne team took undisputed possession of the top spot Sunday night by 21 percentage points when they downed the Philadelphia Warriors, 95-91. The St. Louis Hawks, who had been tied for first but have played more games, slipped mathematically behind despite a 98-97 victory over Cincinnati.

In the only other Sunday game, the Syracuse Nationals rallied to beat the Minneapolis Lakers, 110-98.

Bowl Picture Clear But Ratings Scrambled After College Upsets

By UNITED PRESS

The smoke of Saturday's surprises, like Notre Dame's streak-busting win over Oklahoma, cleared slowly from the college football scene today, leaving the bowl picture mighty clear but the national leadership race in chaos.

You can jot down these New Year's Day lineups:

Rose Bowl — Ohio State vs. Oregon.

Orange Bowl — Oklahoma vs. (probably) Duke.

Cotton Bowl — Probably Texas A&M or Rice vs. Navy or Army.

Sugar Bowl — Probably Mississippi vs. Texas A&M or Rice.

And you can nail Ohio State as champion of the Big Ten for the third time in four years for its 17-13 win over Iowa, the Buckeyes coming from behind to win with a 67-yard drive in seven plays in the fourth quarter as soph Bob White lunged over from the five.

The Big Question

But who do you say is the national leader?

The Texas Aggies, who were No. 1, were handed a 7-6 defeat by Rice on the strength of King Hill's extra-point kick in the second period — a boot that snapped the Aggies' 14-game winning streak and gave Rice the inside track to the Southwest Conference title and Cotton Bowl bid.

But even that upset pales alongside Notre Dame's 7-0 conquest of No. 2 ranked Oklahoma, smashing the Sooners' record winning streak of 47 games and their record streak of 123 games without being shut out.

Oklahoma's loss does not disturb its hold on a berth in the Orange Bowl. Duke probably qualified for the other berth with its 7-6 win over Clemson on Wray Carlton's catch of a TD pass and extra-point kick.

Oregon clinched the Pacific Coast Conference bowl bid by beating Southern Cal. 16-7.

Mississippi's 14-7 win over Tennessee means Ole Miss must finish ahead of any other bowl-eligible team in the Southeastern Conference, and that should mean a Sugar Bowl berth. However, ineligible Auburn still is leading the league after its 6-6 win over Georgia and now is the nation's only major "powerhouse" perfect record team with a 8-0-0 record.

BELLE VERNON AND DISTRICT NEWS

New Books Are Placed on Memorial Shelf at Library

A number of new books have been placed on the memorial shelf of the Belle Vernon Public Library according to an announcement by the librarian, Mrs. Donald Pender.

The Age of Revolution, volume three of A History of English Speaking Peoples, was given in memory of the late John E. Owen by Marjorie Harvey of St. Petersburg, Fla., formerly of Monessen.

Three books from the Mainstream of America series were given by Dr. and Mrs. A.M. Hofstetter in memory of the late Mrs. Ida Hancock. They are: The Age of Fighting Sail, a story of the naval war of 1812, New Found World by Lamb, a story of the discovery and exploring of North America; The Land They Fought For by Dowdey, the story of the south as the confederacy in 1832-65.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Odbert of Monessen placed three volumes in memory of the late Leah Wells Steen. They include: The American Heritage Book of Great Historic Places, a pictorial history of America in terms of the places where history was made — places that one can visit today; The Healing Power of Faith by Oursler, a reporter's story of a man's search for healing of sick bodies, sick minds and sick souls, and his discovery that faith can heal when other means fail: To Live Again by Catherine Marshall, an inspiring personal story of the victory of faith over grief and love over loneliness.

The World's Great Religions, edited by Life, was prepared with the help of many religious authorities and is illustrated with photography and art reproduction. It was given in memory of the late Mrs. Balser (Catherine) Miller by Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bahrenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bailey and Mrs. Elizabeth N. Anderson.

Rotary Club Hears Speaker

"Our Highways and Their Effect on the Community" was the subject discussed by Thomas Malpass, past district governor, who spoke to the Belle Vernon Rotary Club at the dinner session on Thursday evening in the First Methodist Church. He is presently acting as vice president of the local club.

President Joseph Wells presided, and Ed Richards was song leader. The Rev. William Schatz asked invocation.

Robert Rae, program chairman for next week, has announced that Dr. Charles Dow of Monessen will be guest speaker.

November birthdays will be observed.

Belle Vernon Post 659 of the American Legion will meet this evening at 8 o'clock at the Post Home.

School Board Meeting Here

North Belle Vernon Board of Education met on Thursday evening in Bellmar High School library with all members, Clifford Breakwell, George Boston, Stephen Ruby, Dr. Harold Underwood and Carmine Natalini, present. Ruby presided.

Routine reports were given along with the financial statement, and bills were ordered paid.

Plans were made for the next meeting to be held the first Monday in December. By law the board must meet that night for reorganization, so the board decided to also have the regular business session.

Civic Club Will Tour Power Station

All members of the Tuesday Evening Civic Club planning to tour the Mitchell Power station of the West Penn Power Co. tomorrow evening are asked to meet at the American Legion Home at 7:30.

The trip to Elrama will be made by car, and after the plant tour there will be refreshments served.

This trip is replacing the regular meeting of the club at the Legion Home. The next session will be held the first Tuesday of December.

Washington Twp. PTA in Meeting

Washington Township Parent Teacher Association will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of Marion Junior High School. The guest speaker will be Howard Opfar, burgess of Fayette City, who will tell of the trip he and Mrs Opfar made to France last summer.

There will be a business session conducted by the president, Mrs. John Stump, along with other program features.

The social hour which will conclude the meeting will be under the direction of Mrs. John Zadrozny and the hostess committee.

Women's Society Plans Meeting

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church will meet on Wednesday evening, Nov. 20, instead of the regular meeting date Nov. 27. The session has been advanced due to Thanksgiving Day.

Miss Elizabeth Roley, president, will be in charge, and the leader will be Mrs. Harold Robins.

Mrs. John Ames will report on a conference she attended at Jumonville, and Mrs. Kenneth Beazell and Mrs. E.C. Kearns will report on a trip to United Nations at New York.

Hostesses will be Mrs. William Schatz, Mrs. Cameron Lowry, Mrs. Lester Bricker, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. V. Everett.

Henry Flemister of Belle Vernon is undergoing medical treatment in the Monongahela Memorial Hospital.

Legion Auxiliary in Plans For Activities Here Friday

Comfort articles and stamped Christmas cards for hospitalized veterans were contributed by members of Belle Vernon American Legion Auxiliary to Post 659 at the meeting held on Friday evening in the Post Home. Members who have not as yet contributed and desire to do so should contact chairman or Evelyn Komlos, co-chairman.

The business session was conducted by the president, Mary Ferrari. Colors were advanced by Henrietta Younkin, acting sergeant-at-arms and opening prayer was offered by Dorothy Cefala, chaplain. The assemblage joined in reciting the pledge to the flag and sang America.

Routine reports were heard and a very favorable report given on the last month's card parties by Bertha Arn, co-chairman, who reported for Mary Riskey, chairman.

Olive Palfrey, membership chairman, announced that the unit has "gone over the top" in membership with a total of 296 paid up members to date. Two new members were accepted at this time.

The unit endorsed a magazine sale campaign in the vicinity, proceeds of which will be used to purchase hospital beds and wheelchairs for use in the community under the Community Service program.

Coupon Reports

It was agreed that all unit obligations be paid and that Leech Farm, Oakland, Aspinwall, Deshon, Altoona and Coatesville Veterans hospitals be remembered with donations to carry on their Christmas programs in addition to a $50 donation to the Department Christmas Package fund.

Lillie Wells, coupon chairman, is urging all members to continue saving coupons and to get them to her as soon as possible.

It was reported by Frances Pennline, Junior chairman, that the next regular meeting will be held on Friday evening and new officers will be installed.

Announcement was made that the unit was awarded a cash prize for the most members in line in the annual Veterans Day parade held at California on Nov. 11. Twenty one Junior members and thirty-three Seniors participated.

The Christmas party was discussed and Margaret Luzanski and Marge Ganoe were named to make necessary arrangements. Members will be notified of the date and place so that reservations may be made.

During the social hour that followed November birthdays were observed. Games were played and buffet style refreshments were enjoyed.

The guest award was won by Ann Guth.

Parked Car Burns Near Arnold City

Washington Township Fire Department was summoned to Arnold City on Saturday morning about 5 o'clock, when a parked car took fire.

The 1953 Chrysler belonging to Weldon Thrasher was completely demolished since it was enveloped in flame when the firemen arrived on the scene.

While firemen did not know the exact cause of the fire, it was reported to have started at a bad wiring connection.

Mr and Mrs. Thomas Dobson and daughter, Gladys Adele, of Broad Ave. spent Sunday evening in Butler, where they attended an executive meeting of the Pennsylvania Gladiolus Society of which Mr. Dobson is a past president.

Wesleyan Class Holds Meeting

The Wesleyan Class of the First Methodist Church met on Thursday evening in the church social rooms. There were 14 members present.

Mrs. John Gray was the devotional leader, and Marie Bowell, president, conducted the session. Mrs. Arthur Sellars and Mrs. William Schatz offered prayer.

A report was given on several ill members, and it was announced that Mrs. Mary Cramer is improving.

Plans were made for a Christmas party on Dec. 12. There will be a program and a gift exchange.

At the close of the evening luncheon was served by Mrs. Hazel McNutt and Mrs. Ethel Mavromatis.

Vernon PTA to Meet Tonight

The members of the Vernon Parent Teacher Association will meet this evening at 8 o'clock in the Bellmar High School. Mrs. Myrtle Johnston, president, will be in charge of the business session during which future activities will be discussed.

The program will feature the showing of a film, "Skippy and the Three Rs."

National Regional Vice Commander, World War 1 Veterans, Louis Roth of Charleroi, installed officers at Blue Ridge Barracks of Pittsburgh on Friday evening. He was accompanied by Department of Pennsylvania Chief of Staff Carl Younkin, Belle Vernon.

Senator Kennedy For 'New Look'

NEW YORK (UP)— Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) called Sunday for a "new look" in U.S. immigration laws and suggested preference be given to scientists. Speaking to a meeting of the American Jewish Congress, Kennedy said legislation should provide for redistribution of national quotas, permanent visas for 30,000 Hungarian refugees in this country, discretionary power for the President in hardship cases and a non-quota pool of visas for persons with essential skills.

Christian Church Group Meeting In Reorganization

The Chi-Rho group of the First Christian church held a reorganization meeting recently at the church.

In charge was Patricia Sisley of Perryopolis R. D. Mrs. Rowena Sisley is the new counsellor for the group.

It was decided to meet on Tuesday evening of each week from 6 to 7 p. m. The next meeting is scheduled for Nov. 19 at the Christian Church, at which time the nomination and election of officers will take place.

Karen Sickle led the group in prayer and songs.

Eligible to belong to the Chi-Rho are all age groups from 11 to 14 years. After 14, they will join the Youth Fellowship group, whose leader is Miss Alma Nutt.

Local Doctor Given Honors

Dr. Russel Kamerer, who has served Perryopolis residents for over fifty years as the town's physician, was presented a State Medical Society certificate at a recent meeting in Uniontown.

The presentation was made at a dinner held in the White Swan Hotel by members of the Society.

Dr. Kamerer celebrated his fifty years as a physician with open house held at his home in Perryopolis in July. It is estimated that he had delivered over 3000 babies in his half century of practicing medicine.

Dr. Fred Norton, Connellsville, made the presentation.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Blair of Perryopolis were recent visitors to New York.

Hospital patients in Connellsville include Margie Lou Barko, Vanderbilt and Mrs. Rose Marie Yusko, Star Junction.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cumberland of Vanderbilt are announcing the birth of a baby daughter in the Connellsville hospital.

Attends Dinner For Fayette Education Group

Mrs. Ada Kuhns, president of the PSEA Western Convention District, attended a dinner recently given by Dr. Mildred Van Zandt, chairman of the Fayette County Public Relations Committee.

Mrs. Kuhns will also attend a classroom teachers meeting at the Uniontown Joint Senior High School. The Fayette County Education Council will meet for the purpose of taking action on organizing a Classroom Teacher's Assn. in the county.

A meeting was held last May at which time a constitution committee was formed with Mrs. Kuhns as chairman.

A meeting of all standing committees will take place at 8:30 p. m. Each committee will formulate plans for the year.

Following the stated meeting a short executive meeting will be held.

Fayette Radio Network Listings

The new two-way radio network of the Fayette County Fireman's Assn. has listed the call letters for this area and surrounding towns in Fayette County.

County Fire Marshall J. A. Matheny described the radio network as the "best that can be bought."

Following are the call letters for this area. Perry Twp. — KGE 848; and Vanderilt-Dawson — KGE 890.

The network is now in operation but has not been dedicated.

Local Students Take State Tests

Perry-Lower Tyrone students, with Connellsville, Dunbar Twp., Immaculate Conception, Scottdale and East Huntington Twp. schools, are being given sale-person and sale-clerk tests.

The State Employment office in Connellsville is conducting the tests to determine what students are fitted for part-time work during weekends or during Christmas vacation.

McSorley Plans To Appeal His Court Conviction

HARRISBURG (UP) — Defense attorneys today planned an appeal for a new trial for suspended Turnpike Commission Chairman G. Franklin McSorley, convicted of misconduct in office.

The Pittsburgh Democrat was found guilty Saturday night by a Dauphin County Court jury of charges he misused the powers of his office by providing a chauffeur, at commission expense, for former Chairman Thomas J. Evans, after Evans left office.

The state said the chauffeur, Daniel J. Dalto, was paid $2,800 salary while assigned to Evans and the agency received no benefit from the outlay of funds.

McSorley defended the action by testifying the chauffeur was provided in exchange for Evans' services as a consultant. McSorley said that Evans' advice, for example, made possible the completion of the main section of the Northeastern Extension by November, 1955.

The jury returned its verdict after deliberating six hours. The charge, a misdemeanor known technically as "malfeasance, misfeasance and non feasance in office," carries no specific penalty. Sentencing is at the discretion of the presiding judge.

"MR. SAFETY"—Edward U. Ungerman, Ferndale, Mich., school bus driver, holds a $1,000 defense bond and certificate of merit as "Mr. Safety" after presentation in Washington by Howard Pyle, presidential aide. Ungerman was picked from 1,200 school bus drivers in 48 states. He has been driving a school bus since 1950 without accident.

Impressive Services Mark Rev. Sweitzer's Ordination

The Rev. Paul V. Sweitzer conducted his first Sunday service yesterday following his ordination as pastor of Pricedale Union Church Thursday night at impressive ceremonies.

Prior to the ordination service, the Ordination Council, composed of independent ministers of Western Pennsylvania, interviewed and gave the new pastor a 2½ hour examination. He received a unanimous recommendation.

The ordination service was held at the church on Thursday evening. The service was led by the Rev. Lewis Hunter, pastor of Parkhill Chapel in Conemaugh, Pa.

The service opened with congregational singing led by the Rev. Harold L. Davis, pastor of the Harbor of Light Chapel, Uniontown. After the singing, the Rev. Howard Swan, pastor of the Fairview Baptist Church of Lajose, led prayer. The Rev. D. North Miller, moderator of the afternoon session and pastor of the Calvary Bible Church of Monroeville gave the candidate his charge. The Rev. Donald Hurlburt, Pastor of the Marantha Bible Church, New Kensington, gave the charge to the Church.

The ordination message was delivered by the Rev. Craig Massey, pastor of the Independent Bi' Church, Altoona, Pa.

After the message, the candidate knelt in the front of the church and the ten participating ministers laid their hands on him as the Rev. Atney Dickerson, pastor of Sampson Union Church of Donora prayed and asked God to set aside for the Gospel ministry the candidate, Paul V. Sweitzer. The Rev. Stanton Winder of the Western Pennsylvania Bible Mission, Conemaugh, presented the candidate with his Certificate of Ordination. The service was closed as the Rev. Sweitzer asked the benediction.

Other ministers on the Ordination Council who participated were the Rev. Homer H. Boese, pastor of the Dunbar Baptist Church, Dunbar, and the Rev. Leland Hufland, pastor of the Aultman Union Church, Aultman, Pa.

Between the time of examining the candidate and the evening service, the visiting ministers and trustees and their wives of the Union Church were treated to a turkey banquet prepared and served in the church's recreation hall by the ladies of the Church.

Good News Bible Class Meeting Held Recently

The Good News Bible Class of Webster Presbyterian Church met Thursday at the home of June Cupples with Gail Patterson as devotional leader. The latter's topic was "The Greatest Thing In the World".

Scripture was from the 13th chapter of the Corinthians. A question and answer period followed under the direction of Dora Ritchie. Business was in charge of Agnes Leonard, president. Reports were given by Dora Ritchie, secretary, and Pauline Kriston, treasurer. Plans were discussed for a trip to the Allegheny County juvenile home in Pittsburgh to distribute gifts and food to the children. The Class Christmas party will be held the next regular meeting night, Dec. 12, at Ghennes. It will be a husband and wife party.

The hostess served lunch after which Lois Thompson closed the meeting with thanks. Others present were Murial Kriston and Kathleen Leckenby.

Fellsburg Woman's Club in Meeting

There will be an executive meeting of the Woman's Club of Fellsburg at 7 p. m. Wednesday at Sweeney's. The regular meeting will follow at 8 p. m.

Each member is asked to wear a hat — a "funny" one. Non-wearers will be fined. Each member is also requested to bring a Christmas gift for the old persons home.

Mrs. Cecilia Cairns will be guest speaker, talking on "Your Hat and You".

Mrs. Paul Sweitzer's Mother Passes Away

The Rev. and Mrs. Paul Sweitzer went to Tyrone last night following word that Mrs. Sweitzer's mother had died suddenly of a heart attack.

Mrs. Sweitzer's mother had attended the ordination of her son-in-law as pastor of Pricedale Union Church last Thursday.

Lebanon P. T. A. Enrollment Now At 65 Persons

The Lebanon Parent - Teacher Association met Tuesday for a regular meeting. Mrs. Jane Mayhew, area vice-president, conducted the meeting in the absence of the group's president and vice president. Mrs. Helen Lynch led the P.T.A. prayer.

Reports were read by Mrs. Dorothy Naylor, secretary, and Mrs. Rose Hughes, treasurer. Communications were read by Mrs. Helen Lynch.

An area meeting will be held Thursday at 8 p. m. at Sutersville. Officers will act as delegates.

Mrs. Robert Naylor, membership chairman, reported an enrollment of 65.

The attendance banner was won by Mrs. Clara Nicholson's Fifth Grade class. The following teachers were introduced by Principal Trembach: Mrs. John Smith, Miss Petitto, Mrs. Hilda Cummings, Mrs. Ruth Lynn, Isabelle Aitken, Geraldine Monath, Blanche Newcomer, Mrs Stark, Mrs. Christine Johnston, Mrs. Clara Nicholson, Mrs. Ada Belle Leeper and David Trembach.

Mr. Gilmer, elementary supervising principal, spoke briefly.

Following the introductions, the instructors went to their home rooms for discussions with parents.

A bake sale was held following the meeting.

Lunch was served by home room mothers.

Rehoboth Church Class Group in Thursday Meet

The Mary Brown Class of Rehoboth Church met at the church Thursday for a regular all - day monthly meeting. Most of the day was spent quilting.

After a covered dish dinner was served at noon, a devotional period was held with Sally Lutz as leader. Following was the group singing of "Trust and Obey" and scripture reading. The leader then gave a partial reading of "The Promised Messiah". The group recited The Lord's Prayer and benediction.

Sally Lutz, vice president, conducted the business meeting in the absence of Bernice Leeper, president. Reports were given by Grace Rankin, secretary, and Margaret Rankin, treasurer.

It was announced that Margaret Martin will be in charge of the December meeting. The postponed country store project will be held at that time. Mary Finley will be the program leader for the Christmas party, the date of which will be announced later. Others present were Susan Trickets, Mary Houseman, Bertha Colvin, Bessie Wells, Della Stacy, Emily Cook, Beth Patterson, Tillie Cook, Maude Finley and Sally Smith.

Carole Ammon Is Honored Guest At Fellowship

The Methodist Youth Fellowship of Fells Church held a surprise farewell party Saturday at the church for Carole Ammon. Nancy Myers and Karen Streets were in charge. The guest of honor was presented with a gift. The Ammon family is moving to Florida.

Games were played and refreshments served.

Others present were Betty McMinn, Rosemary Aitken, Carole and Margie Overand, Carol Barron, Lloyd Fisher, Wanda Bainbridge, Billy Sarber and a guest, Annetta Yuvan. Mrs. Sarber and Mrs. Fisher are senior consultants and Arlene Fisher is junior counselor.

Rostraver Firemen in Session Tomorrow

The Rostraver Central Fire Department will meet tomorrow at Fells Methodist Church at 8:30. Edward Kirkpatrick will be guest.

Up for discussion will be the new fire station the company plans to build. All interested persons are urged to attend. There will be lunch.

The Ladies Auxiliary of Rostraver Central Fire Dpeartment will meet tomorrow at 8 p. m. at Fells Church.

Scott Huscroft and Lloyd Amato, R. D., Belle Vernon, visited over the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Amato, Philadelphia.

Jesse J. Donley, Rostraver Twp. tax collector, is a patient in Veterans Hospital, Oakland.

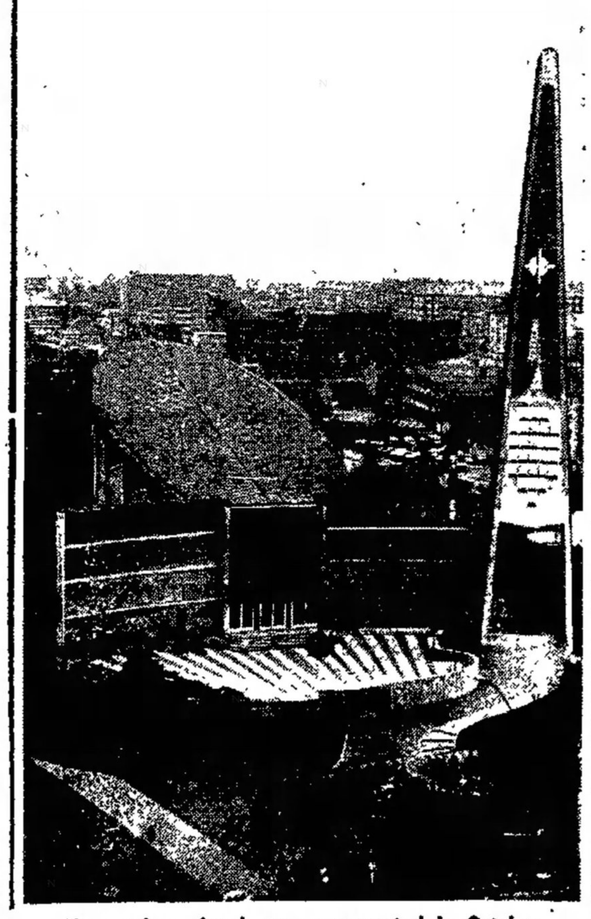
CHURCH of TOMORROW

AMONG THE MOST MODERN examples of ultra-modern churches is the Holy Trinity church in Hamburg, Germany. The steeple, built in the form of an elongated "A," stands apart from the church proper and connects to the main building through a colonnade. The oval nave rises like the prow of a ship in the center. Interior of the church has been adapted to decorative idea of tomorrow.



The modern church was consecrated in October.

Lack of Demand for Steel Is Forcing Competitive Strain

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP)—Lack of demand for steel is forcing a new competitive strain in the industry, Steel Magazine said today.

"Competition for steel business has become so keen," the metalworking weekly said, "that mills must answer a consumer's inquiry within an hour or run the risk of losing the order."

A survey of 45 economic indicators in the metalworking industry shows that "more adjustment is on the way," Steel said. With consumption off, and many users still working off inventories, over-all production is expected to hold at a level only slightly below the pace of the last two years.

Strong activities by automakers and construction firms, Steel said, are "counter-balancing" declines in steel mill shipments and durable goods orders.

The nation's mills slipped again during the week ending Nov. 17 in output for ingots and castings. The rate dropped to a level of 77.5 per cent of rated capacity for total estimated yield of 1,983,600 net tons. The preceding week's rate was 79 per cent.

Downtrends were noted in such segments as fabricated structural steel and refrigerators output. The radio and television industry is reported making its normal seasonal climb.

Statistics of the first 10 months indicate that 1957 will be a 47-billion - dollar construction year. Steel reported. During the similar period last year, the total amounted to 46 billion dollars.

Total annual output probably will reach a mark of about 85 per cent of its 133.5 million-ton capacity, the publication predicted.

Heavy reliance on hot iron and the decline in steel production sent scrap prices into a drop which continued through the week ended Nov. 13. The price composite of scrap—normally a bellwether for the industry's output—dropped 16 cents last week to $33.17 per gross ton.

More Tornadoes Hit Gulf Region; Five Are Dead

By UNITED PRESS

Another onslaught of tornadoes raked the Gulf region late Sunday, killing five persons, and the worst snowstorm of the year swept out of the Rockies into the Great Plains.

The weather violence in Dixie began Sunday afternoon when a flurry of twisters dipped out of a line of severe thunderstorms in Alabama, Mississippi and Texas. Most of the twisters hit rural areas.

A couple and their 14-year-old daughter were killed when a tornado exploded their home "in a puff of smoke" near Jasper, Ala., and an elderly couple was killed by a twister near Macon, Miss.

A weekend snowstorm that buried parts of Colorado and Wyoming under 14 to 18 inches of snow spread today across an area from the Texas Panhandle to Northern Wisconsin.

Forecasters predicted more thundershowers and showers today from most of Texas east to the Atlantic and north through the Ohio Valley and mid and north Atlantic Coast.

Police Rout Marchers

PARIS (UP)— Two hundred veterans of the French Resistance blocked the entrance to a Paris theater where a play by an executed World War II collaborator was being presented Sunday night. Truckloads of police dispersed the demonstrator before the play "The Queen of Cesaree" by Robert Brasillach started.

Linden Kindergarten, Elementary Classes For 275 Children

(This is the final in a series of articles prepared by the Monessen Education Association to help promote the 37th annual observance of American Education Week. Today's article, written by teacher Helen Jones, relates to the Linden elementary school.)

By HELEN JONES

There are 275 children at Linden school from kindergarten through grade six.

Kindergarten is a half-day program with different groups of children attending in the morning and afternoon.

The equipment in kindergarten consists largely of play materials. There are blocks of all sizes and shapes. Art materials are very popular.

There are paints and brushes, easels, finger paints, crayons, and clay. The boys and girls "play house" with toy stoves, table and chairs, dishes, dolls, doll carriages, bathinette and bed.

Group activity is one of the major contributions of the kindergarten. Children learn to work and play with others. They develop a sense of belonging to a group. They learn that they must adjust individual plans to a group plan. Taking turns and being quiet while others speak help the children to develop self-control. Mrs. Agnes Gush is the kindergarten teacher.

The primary grades are self-contained class rooms, first grade being taught by Mrs. Mary McKosky, the second grade by Mrs. Nancy Hathaway, and the third grade by Mrs. Marlene France. These children remain in the same room and are taught by the same teacher all day, with the exception of music and physical education.

Grades four, five, and six are departmentalized in the morning and self-contained in the afternoon. Miss Elizabeth Spence teaches history and geography in the morning to grades four, five, and six and teaches the remainder of the subjects to the fourth graders in the afternoon.

Mrs. Emma Busch teaches English and health to these grades each morning and music in the afternoon. Mr. Armand Mori teaches arithmetic and writing and has a self-contained six grade class the balance of the day. Miss Helen Jones, who is the building head, teaches a fifth grade self-contained classroom every afternoon.

Linden teachers, like those throughout the Monessen School system are concerned with the child's mental, physical and social development and with his personal and social responsibilities.

Privacy for Eden

LISKEARD, England (UP) — A gamekeeper who carries a double-barreled shotgun will make sure Sir Anthony Eden has privacy this winter. The ailing former prime minister has leased a 12-room mansion at Morval on the wild Cornish coast near here. Gamekeeper Victor Scamplebury said today he has orders to warn off sightseers and others who might disturb their privacy.

Livestock Exposition Big Success

By UNITED PRESS

The first annual Pennsylvania National Livestock Exposition was successful history today, but show officials already were planning a "bigger and better" exhibition next year.

State Agriculture Secretary William L. Henning joined with show General Chairman Leon Falk, Jr. Pittsburgh, to describe the four-day exposition success as "far beyond our expectations." Both men said scores of exhibitors told them they were pleased with the Farm Show Building facilities at Harrisburg and would be back next year.

Henning also said he was pleased with the large number of livestock prize winners from Pennsylvania farms.

"The results of the show will be reflected in the future advancement of the livestock industry in all of Pennsylvania," he said. "It will pay dividends in raising the quality of our production and the impact on our future agricultural economy should be terrific."

$50,000 Appropriation

The agriculture secretary asserted, "We want to make the 1958 show bigger and better. The state Legislature of 1955 appropriated $50,000 toward the 1957 exposition and the 1957 session provided the same amount for the 1958 show."

The show, which opened last Tuesday, closed Friday and exhibitors began moving their animals to the Eastern Livestock Show at Timonium, Md., while others prepared for the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago, Nov. 29.

At the concluding day sales, 25 buyers purchased 46 steers and 11 steer carcasses and 11 purchasers bought 61 market lambs and 29 lamb carcasses.

The live steers averaged 34.42 cents a pound, lambs 28.36 cents, and hogs 24.8 cents. The total livestock meat brought in $29,961 at an auction conducted by Abe Diffenback, Lancaster.

The live steers sold for $16,158 for an average 34.42 cents per pound. Steer carcasses went for $3.776 at an average 53.37 cents. Sheep, live, $1,678, at 28.36; Sheep carcasses, $685, at 47.32; hogs, live $4,457, at 24.8 cents. Forty-six hog carcasses were sold privately.

Most of the meat was purchased by packers and restaurants in Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Predicts Girard Will Be Acquitted

CAMP DREW, Japan (UP)—Japanese defense attorney Itsuro Hayashi predicted today that S3C William S. Girard would be acquitted on manslaughter charges Tuesday by the Maebashi District Court.

Hayashi, in commenting on the prosecution demand for five years at hard labor for Girard, said:

"Under Japanese law, when a prosecutor demands five years, the judge can hand down a verdict of no less than acquittal."

Hayashi told the United Press that from the lawyer's point of view "Chief Judge Yuzo Kawachi will hand down a verdict that will be satisfactory to both the defense and the prosecution."

That's Realism

HOLLYWOOD (UP)— A CBS-TV crew now back from location high in the Colorado Rockies where they shot exterior scenes for a TV series didn't miss being snowed in by many days. The series is "Sergeant Preston of the Yukon."

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear husband, father and grandfather Robert Sokolsky, who died four years ago today, November 18, 1953.
As God's golden sun showers
Father's grave today,
Our hearts are filled with longing
A prayer to hear him say
That he is watching o'er us
And keeping us from wrong.
And though he was taken from us
We know 'twon't be for long
'Til we join him up in Heaven
Where he'll part from us no more,
And we'll see him smile so sweetly
As we did in days of yore.
Take him in Thine arms, dear Lord
And ever let him be
A messenger of love
Between our hearts and Thee
Sadly missed by Wife, Children and Grandchildren

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, David W. Frew, who died one year ago today, November 18, 1956.
There's an open gate
At the end of the road,
Through which each must go alone,
And there in a light we cannot see
Our Father claims His own;
Beyond the gate our loved one
Finds happiness and rest,
And there is comfort in the thought
That a loving God knows best.
Sadly missed by his Mother, Sisters and Brothers.

Old 'Treasure Hunt' Gets More and More Mysterious Every Day

By PAT HERMAN

LONDON (UP)—The 300 million dollar question in a century-old "treasure hunt" involving a Jewish junk man and the Bank of England is whether the fortune exists.

Characters in the bizarre story are several hundred hopeful Iraqi Jews, less hopeful bank officials, a London lawyer, and the fabled "Aga" Elazar Levi, who supposedly smuggled a fortune in jewels into England from Baghdad in 1816.

There is no known evidence of his activities in London, the date of his death, his will, or of the fortune he allegedly left.

But lawyers in London and Tel Aviv have been beating the bushes for more than a year to satisfy the claims of Iraqi Jews in Israel who fancy themselves heirs to a fortune that, almost certainly, is fictitious.

Short-Change Government

Israeli Embassy officials said that so many of the fortune hunters short-changed the government by declaring their treks to London "business ventures" that the Ministry of Economics in Tel Aviv launched an investigation of its own.

The United Press talked with embassy officials, the Bank of England, and combed through over 140 years of records for clues.

The few facts and suppositions that emerged produced this story.

First, the legend:

Elazar Levi was a junk dealer in Baghdad who supposedly discovered a treasure trove of jewels in 1816 in an old Persian jar. Frightened that authorities would confiscate the jewels, he smuggled them into England where he sold them and invested the money in stocks and bonds and deposits in banks—among them, the Bank of England.

The facts:

An official of the bank, said after making a thorough investigation:

"We know nothing about this fortune.

"Our records show no deposits in Elazar Levi's name. Nor is there any trace of unclaimed bonds or stocks which, 150 years ago, would have been turned over by us to the national debt.

"As far as we are concerned, there is no such fortune."

The Bank of England official added that he was an old hand at conducting such "treasure hunts."

The London lawyer who is handling the myriad claims of presumptive heirs was even more emphatic.

"We have been swamped by people who think they are Levi's heirs but there simply are no assets," the lawyer said. "The claims are countless, but there are absolutely no documents to prove the existence of any such money."

Nor is there any documentation of Levi's stay in London in the records of the Jews' College Library, the Annual Register, the Jewish Historical Society, or the burial societies of the synagogues that existed in the early 1800s.

Levi Means Wealth

How, then, did the legend spread?

The consensus is that the story was brought to Israel by the Jews who were expelled from Iraq in 1951.

Persons acquainted with the case said that there probably had been an Elazar Levi, and that the name Levi long had been synonomous with wealth in the merchant circles of Baghdad. They also said that the Jews were reticent about pressing their claims against a hostile government, and that this was why they waited until their arrival in Israel.

Against Pay TV

WASHINGTON (UP)— A poll of television 2 to 1, Broadcasting country showed they opposed pay television to 1, Broadcasting Magazine said Sunday. The magazine said a survey in 10 major areas by Pulse, Inc., showed two-thirds of those responding were "not interested" in paying. Of those who said they would pay, two-thirds preferred to put their money down on a "per program" basis.
